

Nixon Eyes Cease-Fire?

Proposal Could Come During Address to Nation Nov. 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid increasingly voiced sentiment for a faster U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, President Nixon reportedly is considering a unilateral cease-fire.

The President may propose the cease-fire during his Nov. 3 address to the nation on the Vietnam situation, a White House source said Sunday.

Indications Nixon may, in fact, have been affected by opposition to the war expressed in last Wednesday's Vietnam Moratorium piled up as the President spend the weekend huddled with his top military and diplomatic advisers at Camp David.

Humphrey Sure
And former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who last week emerged from a meeting with Nixon to endorse his Vietnam policy, said in Tokyo he is sure the United States will carry out "a systematic and accelerated withdrawal of U.S. forces" from South Vietnam.

Humphrey was among a number of prominent figures—in and out of the administration—who spoke out on Vietnam over the weekend.

According to Newsweek Magazine, Nixon has been urged by his military advisers to proclaim a U.S.-initiated cease fire so enemy violations could be used "as evidence of the enemy's reluctance to end the war."

The advisers feel, the magazine said, a unilateral cease-fire "would create no great risk to U.S. troops in the field."

Signal to Hanoi

The White House source said Nixon could be expected to announce such a cease-fire during his Vietnam address or, by not mentioning it, signal to Hanoi the idea has been rejected.

The President conferred at the Maryland retreat with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and his national security adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Humphrey said when he talked about troop withdrawals with Nixon he had "encouraged the President to give it all possible support on the executive level."

Democrats

In Washington, Sen. Fred Harris, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, called for speeded up troop withdrawals and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said United Nations Secretary-General U. Thant should negotiate a political settlement of the war.

Harris spoke on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press" and Muskie appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Harris said Nixon has acknowledged the war can't be won militarily and added that the President "ought to get about getting us out of it on a much more rapid and systematic basis."

"I think the key word is systematic," the Oklahoma Democrat said. "It's by that way that we can signal Hanoi and signal Saigon in a meaningful way that we are on the way to allowing the people of South Vietnam to achieve self determination."

Coalition Government
Muskie said U Thant would be "a natural" to get the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong—together on a coalition government for South Vietnam.

"He's an Asian himself," Muskie said. "He knows the area—is known there. And he knows how to move in an Asian situation of this kind."

Wig to Get Youth Back Into School

MAYVILLE (AP) — A member of a teen-age rock band is free to return to school this week in accordance with grooming rules—provided he conceals his shoulder-length tresses under a short-hair wig.

Parents of Dale Boeck, 17, told high school officials last week the wig had been ordered, and the school board voted 5-1 to accept the compromise.

Boeck has been out of school six weeks, refusing to trim the hair style which he said was part of his professional music attire. The board's ruling that the long hair violated a grooming code adopted by the student council had been challenged in Dodge County Court.

Another daughter, Toni, 14, was treated and released, and is staying with relatives at Wabash.

Senate Resolution

Kennedy Predicts Withdrawal Move

BRUSSELS (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today there is a "great likelihood" that the Senate will soon adopt a resolution calling for withdrawal of some U.S. troops from Western Europe.

Sentiment for such a move has been bolstered "by a continuing European reluctance to accept a greater share of the defense burden," Kennedy told a gathering of the North Atlantic Assembly.

"Let me add," he went on, "that no one proposes any sudden uncoordinated withdrawal of American forces from NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization)."

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., voiced similar misgivings about West European contributions to the Atlantic alliance.

"The burning question to me," he said, "is whether Western Europe can match U.S. comtributions to NATO for, if not, some American forces will have to be withdrawn.

Sparkman cautioned, too, that any such withdrawal "need not be extensive, or immediate, and need not take place at all" if Western Europe responds accordingly.

Kennedy and Sparkman are among a number of legislators attending the annual North Atlantic Assembly, made up of representatives of member national legislatures.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, made a plea to bring Spain into the alliance to provide the strategic base lost when France pulled out of the NATO military structure.

"In marching down the road to freedom," he said, "we can't not always select our company."

A Montagnard boy, garbed in a discarded, oversized fatigue shirt and soldiers' canvas boots that he has salvaged from a muddy rubbish dump near a command post of the 101st Airborne Division, searches for other usable salvage items left behind by units stationed there. The boy lives with his family in a local village and probes the dump regularly.

Inquest Hearing

Judge Disallows Kennedy Words

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge refused today to allow statements made by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to be introduced in evidence at an autopsy hearing into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Police Chief Dominick J. Arena of Edgartown, Mass., the first witness at the hearing on a petition by a Massachusetts prosecutor to exhume the body of the 28-year-old former secretary, told the court that he had taken a statement from Kennedy.

When he sought to read it at the request of Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., lawyers for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., objected on grounds it was hearsay.

Repeated Efforts
Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court sustained the objections four times over the repeated efforts of Dinis' assistant, Armand Fernandes Jr. to have it read into the record.

Arena described the accident scene and told how he was summoned to the dike bridge on Chappaquiddick Island on the morning of July 19 and had assisted a scuba diver in recovering Miss Kopechne's body from the submerged automobile.

Fernandes asked Arena to describe Miss Kopechne's appearance as the police chief cradled her body in his arms.

No Injuries
"She was dressed in a white blouse, dark slacks, a pair of sandals and everything else appeared normal, except that she was dead," Arena said. "There were no injuries that I could see."

The police chief was asked on cross examination by the Kopechne attorney if he had seen any blood on her body or on her clothing.

"No sir," the chief replied. Arena said the body was pulled out of the automobile by a rope, which diver John N. Farrar of the Edgartown Fire Department had attached to the body.

Arena Injuries
The attorney also wanted to know whether Arena had suffered any injury himself during the diving operation.

The police chief said he had suffered a cut on one of his toes but did not know if it had bled. Arena also said that at no time

Involvement in Laos Under Probe

Symington Wants U.S. Role Shown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, declaring it a "travesty" to deny that Americans are fighting and dying in Laos, today began a week-long effort to plumb the depths of U.S. involvement in that shadowy Asian nation.

The Missouri Democrat is chairman of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which has called Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and other top officials to testify behind closed doors.

Some of the witnesses will be soldiers and civilians summoned home from Laos just to testify.

Although the hearings are closed, Symington has promised to make the record public as soon as possible and has indicated there may be open hearings later.

Main Question

The main question Symington has set out to answer is deceptively simple: Are an increasing number of Americans fighting and dying in a war that may become another Vietnam?

"To deny there is fighting is a travesty, when not only the enemy but also the American participants, including those who are casualties and some of their families, know the truth," Symington said in a statement.

The senator said trips to Laos by subcommittee aides and members convinced him "the secrecy surrounding our relations with that country has gone on far too long."

"If whatever we have done is right, the American people deserve to know it," he said. "If whatever has been done is wrong the secrecy can only compound that wrong rather than right it."

U.S. Commitments

The hearings into Laos are part of a broad look at American commitments abroad which the subcommittee began earlier this month with closed sessions on The Philippines.

Although the Symington hearings are the first formal inquiry into the U.S. involvement in Laos, people have been asking questions for years.

It is known that U.S. carrier-based jets were bombing Communist-led forces there five years ago. When the U.S. build-up in Vietnam started Air Force jets joined in the pounding of Laos and North Vietnam.

Nearly 100 U.S. fliers have been lost over Laos.

The principal air target has been the Ho Chi Minh trail, where it snakes through Laos on its way around the demilitarized of routes 13 and 7, was taken after heavy fighting. Government troops are now pushing the enemy east toward the Plain of Jars in a sustained offensive. (AP Wirephoto)

In Resort Business

Florida Moving on Mafia

MIAMI (AP) — An aide says Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth has drafted 21 civil court actions aimed at driving the Mafia out of the multimillion-dollar resort business in the Miami Beach area.

Richard Knight, a member of Faircloth's staff, said the attorney general would personally file the suits today—invoking a new state law in an attempt to "close the places down or allow us to substitute legitimate people."

The law, authorizing the attorney general to challenge the charters of businesses under the thumb of organized crime, went into effect July 1.

"This is the first time in the history of the United States that any one has moved against the Mafia in their infiltration into legitimate business," Knight said.

Southern Florida has long been a favorite vacation hangout for organized crime figures. One of those in the hierarchy, Meyer Lansky, is reported to be a regular visitor to the resort area north of Miami Beach where some of the hotels and motels involved in the court actions are located.

The author of the new law, State Sen. Robert Shevin, D-Miami, said the purpose was to give a public official the power to "keep organized crime from expanding its tentacles into all phases of the economy."

Faircloth is running for governor next year and Shevin said he will become a candidate to succeed him as attorney general.

In a copyright story Monday, the Miami Herald quoted Faircloth as saying the 21 suits were "merely the opening shot in a war against the Mafia in Florida."

Faircloth was quoted as saying there would be other cases in Dade and Broward counties in the Miami area in the near future, and similar suits later in the Tampa area.

Agnew Leads Reaction

Anti-Moratorium Activities Spur Leaders to More Effort

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Backers of Nixon administration Vietnam policy, led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, have launched a counter-offensive against effects of last Wednesday's Vietnam Moratorium and those planned for days ahead.

Agnew Sunday blasted leaders of the antiwar protest movement as "hard-core dissidents and professional anarchists" who are being encouraged by "an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals."

But like President Nixon's promise that he would not be affected by demonstrations against the war, Agnew's attacks were likely to spur Moratorium leader to greater efforts.

Can't Stop

"We think that it would be un-American and immoral to stop our actions now," said Jerome Grossman, a stationery manufacturer from the Boston suburb of Newton and one of the Moratorium's earliest organizers.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., proposed in Long Beach, Calif., that Americans demonstrate in support of U.S. troops in Vietnam on Nov. 11—Veterans Day.

And Gen. William Westmoreland, former commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said American fighting men were disillusioned and disappointed by the Oct. 15 call for an immediate withdrawal from the southeast Asian country.

"My guess is that the vast majority of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam are rather disappointed to see this development," said Westmoreland, now Army chief of staff, at a news conference in Brownwood, Tex.

The vice president, apparently selected to be the administration's spokesman on antiwar protests, said last Wednesday's demonstrations served only "as an emotional purgative for those who feel the need to cleanse themselves of their lack of ability to offer a constructive solution to the problem."

New Orleans Dinner

"Unfortunately, we have not seen the end. The hard-core dissidents and professional anarchists within the so-called peace movement will continue to exacerbate the situation," Agnew said at a Republican fund-raising dinner in New Orleans.

Goldwater, claiming "the majority of responsible Americans" support the President's Vietnam policy, said Veterans Day demonstration—coming just two days before the second round of antiwar activities are scheduled to begin—would be "not only fitting but, I believe, entirely necessary."

Grossman said Moratorium Day planners hoped to focus on local activities rather than large, central rallies during November.

He said local committees will urge congressmen to return home to discuss Vietnam with their constituents. Various groups have planned activities for Nov. 13, 14 and 15—with one group calling for a massive demonstration in Washington Nov. 15.

"We hope that President Nixon in his speech on Nov. 3 will accede to the expressed desire of the American people for an immediate end to the war," Grossman said. "If he does, we will fold our tents, and be happy to go back to our 'business as usual' activities."

"But we think that it would be un-American and immoral to stop our activities now," he said.

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded today to the International Labor Organization (ILO), the Nobel committee announced.

The prize this year is worth $72,700.

The ILO was one of 45 candidates proposed to the Nobel committee, composed of members of the Norwegian Storting (parliament).

The Geneva-based ILO was founded in 1919 as part of the Versailles peace treaty ending World War I.

"Its purpose was declared to be to improve working conditions in various countries in order to create more stable social conditions and thereby contribute to the safeguarding world peace," the Nobel committee's announcement said.

Activity Takes Sharp Upturn In War Zone

Level of Fighting Still Quite Low, U. S. Spokesman Claims

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Fighting increased sharply in the past 24 hours in Vietnam, with 197 enemy troops reported killed, but a U.S. spokesman said activity is still at a relatively low level.

Seven Americans and six South Vietnamese were reported killed in seven clashes scattered across the country from the Mekong Delta to the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang. Sixteen Americans and 21 South Vietnamese were reported wounded.

The heaviest fighting raged deep in the Mekong Delta 142 miles southwest of Saigon. There, 400 South Vietnamese troops supported by American helicopter gunships reported killing 96 Viet Cong. It was the biggest battle of the year for the South Vietnamese.

Military Base
The South Vietnamese said six of their men were killed and 6 wounded in the five-hour fight in the U Minh Forest, a swampy area of tall trees and undergrowth used by the Viet Cong as a major military base.

An American AH1 Cobra helicopter gunship was shot down and destroyed during the fighting and one crewman was wounded. Another U.S. helicopter was shot down and destroyed 30 miles northwest of Saigon, and again one American was wounded.

This raised to 5,993 the total number of U.S. helicopters and fixed-wing planes reported lost in the war. There have been 113 helicopters reported lost and 2,880 fixed-wing aircraft.

Rifle Rocket Attack
North Vietnamese troops boarded a 50-man U.S.-South Vietnamese platoon with mortars before dawn Sunday 63 miles southeast of Da Nang, attacking with rifles and rocket grenades. Five Americans were killed and five wounded out of the 14-man Marine squad in the platoon. Three government militiamen were wounded, and at least four of the enemy were reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported a terrorist bomb attack and the mining of a bus that killed five civilians and wounded 37 other persons, 9 of them civilians.

Servicemen Killed U.S. to Protest N. Korean Action

SEOUL (AP) — The United States and South Korea requested a meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission Tuesday to protest the "murder" of four U.S. soldiers in an ambush Saturday by North Koreans.

North Korea has not yet responded to the request, a U.S. spokesman said. The spokesman said the four soldiers were aboard a 1½-ton truck returning from a guard post inside the demilitarized zone.

The North Koreans ambushed the truck with grenades and small arms fire, the spokesman said, and the four Americans were found in the truck shot in zone splitting North and South Vietnam.

What is not known is the extent of U.S. support of Laotian forces against the Communist Pathet Lao both from the air and on the ground. Officials refuse to say how many Americans actually are in the country. The Pentagon insists U.S. planes are flying only armed reconnaissance and that there are no "combat troops" in the country. That's what President Nixon told a news conference last month, too.

300 Sorties
And after a published account said the Air Force was flying some 300 sorties a day in support of Laotian forces, Premier Sourvanna Phouma also denied there were "combat troops" of any other nation aside from North Vietnam in his country.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, however, says the United States has involved itself in Laos as a supplement to the Vietnam war and that investment in American lives and money appears to be increasing. Mansfield visited the country during a Southeast Asian tour this past August and made a confidential report to the President when he returned.

The United States pumps $82 million a year into Laos for economic assistance and according to some published estimates perhaps four times that in military assistance.

Production of Cyclamate Stopped for More Study

CHICAGO (AP) — The major producer of cyclamate says 15 per cent of all soft drinks sold in the United States in 1968 contained the artificial sweetener which has been banned by the federal government. Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago, which manufactured more than half the cyclamate used in this country, said Sunday it had stopped producing the sweetener "pending further discussions."

Millions of weight-conscious Americans will have to turn to new low-calorie nourishment. The artificial sweetener has been widely used in about $1 billion worth of foodstuffs sold annually—not only soft drinks but canned fruits and vegetables, ice cream, cookies and diet mixtures.

Others Sweeteners
A spokesman for Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis said the firm would replace cyclamate with other sweeteners in its no-calorie and low-calorie lines. One soft drink manufacturer—PepsiCo—announced that it would soon start marketing a cyclamate-free diet drink with only one-sixth the calories of Pepsi-Cola. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has banned the sale of cyclamate

Public Transport, Coal Mine, Auto Workers Strike in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Strikes in public transport, the coal mines and the automobile industry hit Britain today. Guards on the subways pulled a lightning one-day strike which tossed several million commuters onto buses and taxis but mostly onto the streets and a highly unaccustomed walk to work. The guards are demanding mileage bonuses equal to that given the motormen.

In sympathy, guards on some of the trains feeding London from the countryside took the day off. Coal miners completely shut down Yorkshire's 70,000-man collieries, some in other parts of England, Scotland and Wales.

They overruled their own union's agreement with the National Coal Board and pledged to stay off the job until their complete demands are met. The board consented to weekly pay increases amounting to about $3.20. But it balked at including the meal breaks in the 40-hour week. The miners—100,000 of them now out—insist on this be-

To Your Good Health 'Fallen Stomach' Not Usually Very Serious

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M. D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told I have fallen stomach. Where does it fall from, and where does it fall to? Also does one need to be on a diet? I am elderly, and very, very constipated. Can you help me? — E. D. J.

Chances are that you are too much alarmed by the words "fallen stomach." It sounds ominous but as a rule isn't.

The stomach, bowel, and some of our other possessions have no bone structure. They are pliable, flexible organs, as necessary. They are held in place by a type of tissue called mesentery, which contains strong fibrous material. They are supported also by fat and by other organs.

The stomach normally is under your lower rib margin, but it can sag (or "fall") in lean and elderly folks. With age, the supporting tissues become relaxed, and a good many of us also lose fatty tissue, too.

So the stomach can "fall" lower than it used to be. Maybe "droop" would be a better word, because this is a gradual, slow process. The stomach may sag to about the level of the navel.

This doesn't necessarily cause any symptoms or trouble, and if there are no symptoms, forget about the whole thing. No diet necessary.

Your constipation, however, may be another matter. It does bother you, evidently.

The cause may well be a similar sagging, but involving the colon, or bowel.

For the constipation, diet can help you: more bulk (vegetables, fruits, indeed, more food in general but mainly the ones that leave more waste, such as vegetable fibers), more fluids, which are very helpful as a rule for anyone with constipation, prunes or prune juice, for the gentle laxative action.

Returning again to the "fallen stomach," if it bothers you in any way, a firm girdle gives added support, and adding a little weight, if you are lean, as I rather presume you are, will help.

But mainly keep in mind that this is not a serious problem. As a physician, I want you to be comfortable and untroubled, but I am not worrying that a "fallen stomach" is endangering your general health, because it isn't.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Here is a little encouragement for the youngster of 58 who complains of being ridiculed for riding a bicycle. I am 81 and have been riding a bike since I was 9. I am going to treat myself to a new bike for my 90th birthday. Let 'em laugh! — E. W. A.

Thanks, young man. I am of the opinion that bike riding is much more sensible than jogging. Jogging is fine for those who get in condition for it gradually, but too many people do not get in condition, and wind up with foot damage and sometimes even fractures.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I want my 12-year-old daughter to take voice lessons. She wants to, too. I have been told by someone that her vocal cords aren't completely developed yet and it would be too much strain on her. Is she too young? — Mrs. W. E.

I have never heard of any good reason for a young girl (or boy) not to take voice lessons. They sing in school; in church choirs; they holler and scream. I've never heard of any damage from that, and can see even less reason to think that voice lessons would be harmful. True, excessive use of the voice in adults who have to give many speeches may cause some temporary hoarseness, but that subsides with rest.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Vandals Strike After Friday's Homecoming

OSHKOSH—Police said Saturday that the weekend's two homecomings at the high schools may have had some bad side effects.

According to police, large numbers of students were roving streets after Friday's Oshkosh High homecoming game, and at the same time, a massive number of vandalism incidents were occurring.

In all, during the night, police received nine different complaints of vandalism. In several of these, witnesses reported seeing high school age youths either committing the acts of vandalism or at the scene where it took place. Some of the youths have been identified.

Windows were reported broken at two homes, one private garage and at one Oshkosh church. Vandals also broke into two private garages, breaking off radio antennas in a car in each and destroying some of the driving controls of one car. One house front was sprayed

Amphetamines and Barbiturates A Pill to Start and a Pill to Stop

Amphetamines and barbiturates are the "up and down" drugs, usually taken in pill form.

They are said to "pick you up when you're down and bring you down when you're up." For most people, amphetamines do have exhilarating effects, while barbiturates bring calming.

They are powerful drugs, too powerful to play around with. Yet too many people are doing so. No one knows how many, but the best estimates are that about 200,000 — and perhaps as many as 400,000 — persons regularly abuse these and other non-narcotic drugs.

The case of Mary Jones illustrates the matter. It's a hypothetical case, not a real name, but it's true.

With orange paint, an outdoor bird bath was turned over, and the glass faces of the gasoline pumps at a city service station were broken.

Mary takes amphetamines to get going and barbiturates to put her to sleep. She does this day in and out. She takes the "up and down" pill without the supervision of her family doctor.

Mary is — or is on the way to being — a slave of these drugs, addicted to them, a "junkie" as the slang goes. What is worse, she doesn't know it. She doesn't know facts she needs to know, like these:

The "up drugs," pep pills also called "bennies" and "speed," are a group of drugs known as amphetamines. They form one-half of what is perhaps the biggest part of the drug abuse problem in the U. S. today.

The other half of the problem are the "down drugs" — sedatives, sleeping pills, the large family of drugs made for medical purposes to relax a person.

Relaxing Effect
What do the "down drugs" do? They produce a relaxing effect for most people; in normal, medically supervised doses, they mildly depress the action of the nerves, skeletal muscles, and heart muscle. In abnormal doses, the effects resemble alcoholic drunkenness.

Are these drugs addicting? The amphetamines or "up drugs" produce "psychological" dependence — a practice that can become a habit for mental or emotional reasons.

The "down drugs," barbiturates usually, are physically addicting. Some experts consider barbiturate addiction more difficult to cure than dependence upon a narcotic like heroin or cocaine.

Are these drugs dangerous to use? They have definite medical and health values if properly used under a physician's direction.

None is properly available without a physician's prescription. This is for the very good reason that their misuse or

Right for Wrong Reason

Sen. Nile Soik of suburban Milwaukee is a diligent representative of sobriety and intelligence. But his heated protests the other day about being passed over for a seat on the State Building Commission may have appeared to some of his constituents and friends to have more logic than it actually had.

Pacing the Senate floor angrily, Republican Soik denounced the State Senate leadership for having given a vacant seat on the commission to Senator Raymond Johnson of the Eau Claire district, in defiance of the fact that Milwaukee County includes about a quarter of the population of the state and perhaps pays more than that ratio of state taxes, and does not have a representative on that important body.

We have no objection to a politician impressing his constituents with such methods as he can devise. Yet to the moderately informed, there was something unconvincing in this performance, for a number of evident reasons.

First, there is no rule about geographical representation on this body, and we do not recall that Mr. Soik in his several terms in the legislature (he was formerly an assemblyman) ever proposed such area qualifications. Second, Mr. Soik is a newcomer to the State Senate, out-ranked in seniority by Sen. Johnson, and it is custom, rather than rule, that seniors get preferment in such matters. Finally we do not recall that Mr. Soik made any public protest about Milwaukee County's absence from the commission roster during the preceding year. His resentment was generated by the denial of his personal ambition.

But now that the subject has been entered into the arena of debate at Madison, the leaders of the legislature may ponder the advisability of some reasonable method of distributing these building commission seats which represent the power to commit the state to multi-million dollar sums of debt, not to mention the expenditure of current appropriations which represent equity contributions to the sums borrowed for state construction.

In the nature of politics, there is inevitable competition for the location of big state institutions, as the often prolonged and agitated deliberations of the commission have shown. Bringing home a big "smokeless factory" is a profitable feather in the hat of the aspiring politician. Even now one of the members of the commission is trying to persuade his colleagues to support him in providing a big new institution in his own legislative district. His idea may have merit. But it has not yet been shown. What needs not be shown is that his success would be a valuable stroke of political business for himself.

Mr. Soik may be right, for the wrong reasons.

The Need for the Communications Building

The School of Journalism at the University of Wisconsin has long had a reputation as one of the top schools in the country. As a matter of fact it is the oldest such school in the nation, along with being one of the most respected.

But curiously throughout its history it has been housed in outmoded, often temporary building facilities at Madison. Its next to last home was an ancient building at the foot of Observatory Hill which burned down and had to be razed. Its present home is in Old Wisconsin High School which became obsolete even for high school purposes. For 65 years the School has waited for a home that meets the needs of a professional school of this one's stature.

Such a building has been in the planning stage at Madison for the last six years. For economy purposes the building will also house the Speech and Radio-Television Departments. Property has been purchased for its construction, and present buildings razed. The State Building Commission earlier this year approved the final plans and authorized sending them out for bids. When the bids came in the cost was $12 million over estimates, but the University was able to persuade trustees of the Vilas trust to make up the difference.

Now, however, the Building Commission has delayed giving a go-ahead on construction until President Nixon's request for states to cooperate in a cut-back on construction programs is clarified.

Certain facts about the Communications Arts Building should be considered by the Commission when it acts next week.

Housing for these three departments is badly needed at Madison, and delay in construction will result in sharply increased costs, particularly if there is need for redesigning. As far as the Journalism School is concerned, it is competing against modern physical facilities at nearby institutions, Northwestern's Fisk Hall and Minnesota's Murphy Hall as two examples.

Two sources of federal funding for the project could be lost through delay, a half-million dollar grant, and a special interest rate of three per cent negotiated by the state building corporation on $5,000,000 of the cost.

Finally, the need for home-trained journalism specialists, radio and television graduates as well as newspapermen, is as critical today as is the state's need for physicians, dentists, nurses and other professional people. And the ability of the University of Wisconsin-Madison to attract journalism students has been seriously affected by the inadequacy of its physical quarters.

The Supplemental Budget Bill

The handful of conscientious assemblymen who worked so hard to put together the $10 million supplemental budget bill as an answer to Governor Knowles' call for a special session must be mightily discouraged after it went down to defeat in the Assembly by a 50-48 vote.

The package of appropriations they proposed was designed to meet real state needs as distinguished from wants, and it certainly represented the minimum necessary to supplement the totally inadequate budget adopted earlier by the legislature and reluctantly approved by the governor.

Included were $32 million to keep the Marquette School of Medicine in operation, a revolving loan fund to get a program of low-cost housing started in the state, plus modest increases in welfare benefits and funds for special educational programs in the inner core of Milwaukee.

There's Even Litter on the Moon

It wasn't a very big article, and man's first and historic moonwalk had forced it far off the front pages. But the story stuck.

Our men on the moon had left some litter behind, it said. Obviously not a great deal in quantity. After all, how much could you take there to begin with?

But it had quality all right — this lunar litter. Estimates placed replacement cost at a cool million dollars. And even for lunar litter, "that ain't hay!"

Have you read up lately on the cost of littering in this little corner of God's good planet earth which we call the United States of America? It's even more fantastic, it's a far greater shame, and it's also more unlikely to make any news page. Not to mention the water and air pollution, which is certainly another vicious and fantastically costly kind of littering.

Here and there signs arise — like the biblical emerging of a "cloud like a man's hand" — indicating that the average man is showing signs of at least occasional concern. Let's help that trend to develop.

Until it does, there's little hope to eliminate littering, except maybe on the moon.

'Well, it's nice to know something can make you guys fight.'

Moratorium Ends Any Immediate Hope of Negotiated Settlement

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Facing the VIETNAM Moratorium Day demonstrations, Secretary of State William P. Rogers stated that these and other organized anti-war outbursts in our country had "eliminated any possibility of a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war" at an early date.

This was promptly disputed in Senate speeches, and elsewhere, which is much like disputing that mother earth is round or that Tom Seaver plays on the Mets.

We should never have got into this land war in Southeast Asia in the first place. And from the very day President Kennedy sent in the first U. S. combat troops (16,000), breaking all previous promises, the Vietnam war was for years on end just one, long, drawn-out Bay of Pigs all over again.

IT'S AMERICA'S WAR

But this is not President Kennedy's war, President Johnson's war, President Nixon's war or anybody else's war. It is America's war, and we are in it. And President Nixon, like President Johnson before him, is trying in every conceivable way to negotiate our country out of it.

Actually, President Johnson first offered peace terms that were all-but-surrender to the enemy as long ago as his Baltimore speech of April, 1965. And as this column first stated on the day (May 13, 1968) the Paris truce talks began, Ho Chi Minh had previously refused nearly a thousand "peace feelers," 39 of them secretly listed inside our State Department as major, before Hanoi even consented to the preliminary talks in Paris.

Many who dispute the anti-war demonstrations' effect on the Hanoi negotiations are sincere, of course, but it is equally obvious that much of all this is the product of a fifth column organized to collapse our country. And the total effect, which is the crux of the matter, is so obviously damaging to the negotiations that to debate this effect seems preposterous.

The Reds are shrewd. They twist everything to their advantage. Robin Moore, the author of "The Green Berets," an Asia expert, states that the North Vietnamese government declared a day of mourning when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated as "one of our true friends." North Vietnam also made an official martyr of American Norman Morrison, who in 1965 burned himself to death in protest against the Vietnam war.

Yet a Gallup poll shows the irony in the fandango's effect. Only 10 per cent of the people in our country were shown as favoring demonstrations of any kind and, even of that group, only one in 10 — or one per cent of the total — were interested in demonstrating against the Vietnam war.

HANOI IS CONTENT

When I was in Paris not long ago our peace negotiating team told me that Hanoi is today totally content without any military victory whatever.

Today's Red military strategy does not involve taking, holding, or even attacking any strategic town, area or defenses. Exactly the reverse. They are content merely to kill 200 or 300 Americans a month whenever convenient and let American public opinion do the rest.

Hanoi sees clearly that public opinion in the United States, spearheaded by demonstrations and senatorial speeches, is President Nixon's problem in advancing the negotiations at all. Public opinion and family sorrow apply in our country; these mean nothing whatever in Hanoi. The Red negotiating plan is to refuse anything and everything which President Nixon, like President Johnson before him, proposes while the demonstrations and senatorial speeches continue to put water on Hanoi's wheel. The plan is only and entirely what the French call "le jeu de pouvoir" — the relentless, uncompromising, automatic "no" that erodes resistance and gets its way by default.

If you were Hanoi, once you stopped laughing at all this going on in mighty America, what would you do? Would you fear anything? Would you be interested in any settlement this side of abject surrender? Wouldn't you say, "Just let things roll! Just let mighty America knock itself out in its own gymnasium! Negotiate! My eye!"

The blood lines of the world are American. This nation was conceived in freedom but, God willing, it must prove its staying power. The playing into the hands of freedom's enemies is no way to prove that.

Optimistic Wimmer Finds Room for Hope In Democratic Party

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When youthful Chairman James Wimmer of the state Democratic party organization started the year, he told his associates about the criteria by which he expected to judge the outlook for the party at the close of 1969.

Not necessarily in the order of their importance, but as a kind of composite thermometer, he listed the special election result in the 7th Wisconsin Congressional Dis-most successful in terms of receipts, ranking only below those earlier in the decade which had President Kennedy and Sen. Edward Kennedy as the headlines.

All of this does not mean that Wimmer is about to wager his salary on a Democratic sweep next year. But there is a scarcely muted optimism that is obvious whenever he discusses the outlook.

He has expanded off-year expenditures considerably over those of his predecessors, setting up a larger field staff, stepping up the publicity program, and arranging for extensive files on potential campaign issues, as well as dossiers, as they might be called, on the leading Republican personalities who may be targets in 1969.

UNEXPECTED BONUS

These, of course, are matters over which the party has some measure of choice and exercise of judgment. But in addition, there have been fortuitous events, from Wimmer's viewpoint, that could not have been predicted.

The war issue which haunted the Democrats last year remains, but it is now the responsibility of a Republican national administration to resolve it. If it fails to do so, there will be some political fallout that will help local Democrats, as well as those running for congressional office next year, in the view of most observers.

The cool to contumacious relations of the principal men in the Republican state administration, the long struggle about the new state budget which had the effect of pushing aside other major questions before the legislature for many months, and most of all, the ironic combination of an unpopular tax rise and a potentially vulnerable expenditure program of the Republican state administration must also be counted as pluses for the Democrats, at least at this early stage, as Wimmer and his associates know.

REASON FOR OPTIMISM

Wisconsin is historically a Republican state. In normal times the Republicans are favored to win in state politics. But these are not normal times. Even in the recent years of their adversity, the Democrats have been hard pushing competitors. A certain cheerfulness at their headquarters is probably understandable now under the circumstances.

Wimmer says the party's membership rolls show more names than at this time last year, although one suspects that the care with which he spoke suggests that there were better years in the past — as when the party was in power in Madison or in Washington or both.

PARTY DINNER SUCCESS

Finally, the annual fund-raising dinner was one of the

Cities in America On Their Last Legs

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

More than 30 years ago, social prophets like Lewis Mumford accurately predicted what was going to happen to American cities. But it is part of the franchise of prophets that nobody ever listens to them until it is nearly too late.

The American city today is on its last legs — physically, financially, administratively, and morally. New York is ungovernable; only lunatics run for mayor there, and the victor is the biggest loser.

Most of it has happened because "planning" is a dirty word in the public sector of American life, even though private corporations would perish in a year unless they skillfully planned future development.

Out cities have grown helter-skelter, lacking even the most basic "systems approach" of any sophisticated little company. Downtowns have become crippled nearly beyond recovery, neighborhoods have deteriorated, and the blight has spread even to the newer suburbs, which are ugly, chaotic, and already well on their way toward slumhood.

Public transportation is a joke in most big cities: The people who most need it live farthest from where the jobs are and can't afford cars to make up for the lack of fast, clean, efficient buses or trolleys. And the affluent suburbanites clog up the city by driving down to work when they should be taking trains.

The middle classes are deserting the city en masse, leaving it to a thin crust of rich and a heavy layer of poor, who together cannot support the rising tax rate and the increasing need for municipal services. Spurned by their state governments, and squeezed dry by the suburban exodus, the cities seem to face terminal cancer unless some radical surgery is introduced.

This surgery wouldn't have been necessary if the few Mumfords of the 1930s and 1940s had been listened to. But we were too busy growing, too busy building factories and skyscrapers and highways, too busy with our industrial and commercial goals, to stop to reckon the human cost of creating such inhuman patterns of living and working and traveling.

Moreover, our paranoid fear of "government" intervention prevented us even from granting enough control to local governments, so that they could adopt some sensible long-range zoning and building programs. Only the promoters, the gougers, the slum landlords, and the real estate speculators benefited from our negligence.

Now the cities are in deep trouble everywhere, and the cost of restoring their environment to the human scale will be a hundred times what it might have been through preventive measures — if it can now be done at all. How long can we tolerate our curious national conceit that we must look ahead only for private gain, never for public interest?

United National Consumers Seek To Get Rid of State Income Taxes

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Obviously the Appleton League of Women Voters has not yet gotten the message that over 10,000 taxpaying petitioners are fed up with soaring government spending or the group wouldn't be asking taxpayers to support government proposals that will increase the tax burden.

These taxpayers aren't interested in "sob stories". They are losing their incentive to work, finding it increasingly difficult to save money for their future security. At the same time — they are expected to bow to the demands of families on welfare, some of which do not even want to work, because living off the taxpayer has been made too easy.

There will always be some people mentally, morally and physically unable to earn a living. These poor folks, deserving enough, will always need help.

If welfare were reduced to necessities, those that are physically able to work would soon sprout ambition.

We could insist that food and clothing be substituted for the money given for these items to welfare people.

Or, we could insist that those parents and children over 18 years of age, who are on welfare and are physically able to earn a living, but cannot find jobs within 15 days, paying the minimum wage, be put to work for the city and county. They could work on streets, sidewalks, in parks, county homes and hospitals, etc., at least eight hours a day, five days a week, if all they do is move a broom, or shovel, etc., one foot in those eight hours. If they didn't put in their time, they would receive less aids accordingly. If they damaged public or private property, they would be made to work overtime until the damage costs were paid.

We might utilize empty classrooms, gyms and the auditoriums in our schools evenings, and invite the partially handicapped and AFDC mothers of very young children to volunteer baby-sitting while others on the welfare roll work.

It is a great misfortune that some pressure groups always think with their emotions, seldom with reason, marching and destroying property and order, as they seek to force their own advancement.

We can avoid the "far greater costs of property damage and human lives lost — without encouraging our state to accept the responsibility and costs now, — by declaring war on the cause of poverty. We can stimulate ambition by teaching welfare people that their own negative thoughts can only lead to their own destruction, and that positive thoughts will lead them to success and prosperity, as we emphasize maximum productive earnings.

Taxes reduce the savings of the working individual and in turn cause far more economic ills than we now have. Some taxes are handed down to consumers in higher prices for consumer goods and services. The lending institutions, where we save our money, would not be able to use our money to loan business places and consumers for spending. Business places could not expand or modernize their plants. There could be no new industries, hospitals or home improvements. Most of all, capital goods would decrease, putting people out of work, causing more unemployment, and eventually there would be commonwealth for all.

Who is the Appleton League of Women Voters trying to kid? Industry and private concerns have done a good job, up to now, providing money to students for upper education, poverty and health at far less cost than the government can. For every 30 cents that it costs industry and private concerns, it costs the taxpayer one to three dollars if we support government programs.

Wisconsin ranks second in personal income taxes, and 44 in sales taxes. Only six states have less sales tax, and these are using other methods of taxation, like gambling or supplementing with highway toll taxes, some gambling and personal property taxes on automobiles, etc.

In the fiscal year 1968 Wisconsin workers paid $3,079,873,000 to the federal budget, and received funds back totaling $2,493,077,368.

The United National Consumers Assn. of Wisconsin urges you to contact your state Legislature now, if you haven't already, and ask that double taxation be halted. We urge support of the sales tax and ask you to please budget wisely, because this type of tax prevents those people that refuse to work from escaping taxation.

If we have no income tax, it would encourage the incentive to work and to save for yourself, family and our nation's future security.

Housing for Aged Project Can Still be Blocked

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Another possibility now exists to stop Appleton's low-rent housing project for the aged in its present location. The high-rise apartment building fails to fit into any existing zoning classification in the city code. The council adopted a "co-operation agreement" with the Appleton Housing Authority agreeing to grant variances and zoning changes needed to carry out the project. However, the authority ignored objection to the current site. Would it not, therefore, be legal and ethical to ignore the request for changing zoning ordinances by the developers? The Hutter Construction Co. of Fond du Lac is legally the owners of the project until they finish and turn it over to the Housing Authority. May I again point out they were the highest of the four submitting bids? So the excuse that the present site is cheaper is not a factor. Everything about this project is rush, rush, rush. Why?

One of the most important features of low-rent housing for the aged is location. We need this low-rent housing where older people can live in peace without a transportation problem. We could at least make it possible for them to walk to church, the library, and possibly enjoy the Civic Center and Golden Age Club now in the planning stage.

It is depressing and humiliating to think that Appleton would so little consider the needs of their older people. If the city were to so ignore the needs of the general public there would be meetings and demonstrations. The young protest; the poor march; but what can the older citizens do? It is shameful to take advantage of this group. Now is the time to come forward and express yourselves and make your feelings known to our government. Younger people have to do it for their older friends and relatives. This is the time to show our aged our appreciation for what they have done for Appleton and for us.

Froehlich, GOP Irresponsible in Handling of Father Groppi Affair

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am totally disgusted with the disrespect for law and for the citizens of Wisconsin on the part of the Republican leadership of the state Legislature. On Oct. 1, I sent the following telegram to Assemblyman Harold V. Froehlich, speaker of the Assembly.

"Your irresponsible attempt to crucify Father Groppi is shameful. The proper institutions for dealing with violations of the law are the courts. The Legislature's responsibilities are to deal with the problems of poverty which you have disregarded all of this year. Your use of the contempt citation makes a mockery of the legal processes, sensible law enforcement and of the Legislature itself."

Speaker Froehlich's response to my telegram makes an even greater mockery of sensible law enforcement and demonstrates his total unconcern with what citizens of Wisconsin might believe. In a letter to me dated Oct. 6, 1969, he said:

"Your telegram of Oct. 1 has been relegated to the circular file. Your poor judgment in sending it is exceeded by your inability to use common sense in assessing the blame. It was Groppi and his hoodlums who violated the law and disrupted our governmental process. Don't blame the Legislature for doing its job."

To relegate a citizen's attempt to communicate with elected officials to "the circular file" shows the contempt that the Republican leadership has for the people of Wisconsin. If a citizen cannot express strong and sincere disagreement with his state's elected officials without being insulted and if a citizen cannot strongly criticize elected officials without being maligned by them, then the democratic process is in serious trouble.

Froehlich's responses to my telegram and to all others who disagree with him on the issues facing our state are totally insulting. Such a man has no business being in public life, let alone be leading a political party.

The only thing that Froehlich is right on is that Father Groppi violated the law. For that Groppi certainly should be punished. But the American Constitution — the law of our land — says that a man is entitled to a trial in a court where he can defend himself before he is to be punished for violating the law. Froehlich and the Republican Party usurped the rightful power of the courts in this case and thereby showed that they have absolutely no interest in the law when it does not suit them.

If in a civilized society, our public officials cannot behave respectfully toward the citizenry and the law in the face of provocation, then they have no business being in public office. Froehlich and the Republican party have demonstrated that they cannot rule responsibly in the face of provocation. It is time for a change.

Cleveland Keeps Its Black-White Mayoral Contest Tension-Free

Leaders Thought Handing Stokes 2nd Term Would Buy Racial Peace

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CLEVELAND — If they had gotten their way, the Cleveland establishment of bankers, merchants, and steel executives would have ruled out any Republican at all opposing Democratic Mayor Carl Stokes, the first Negro mayor of a major city, for re-election.

Evans Novak

The evidence of this came in a hugely successful fund-raising dinner for Stokes last April, whose sponsors included some of volunteer workers here, he laid down his line: the issue is Stokes's record — nothing else.

Race Not an Issue
"There will be a public reprimand from me," he said, "if the issue of race is raised in any way." So far, except for a smattering of anti-black hate literature not visibly connected with Perk's headquarters, the "issue of race" has been kept out of the campaign.

In refusing to follow the route of the hard-nosed Stenvig or Mayor Sam Yorty in his Los Angeles re-election campaign, Perk has the same motive as did the establishment last spring in backing Stokes: the fear that if a white man should defeat Stokes on an anti-black campaign of law-and-order, the city of Cleveland would become ungovernable.

With its huge Negro population, Cleveland is unlike other Northern cities — Minneapolis, Los Angeles, or even New York City — where the white backlash, centered on blue-collar voters, has been so exploitable. That may be a safe enough formula in Minneapolis, only 4 per cent black. Here it could be suicidal.

Prosaic Tone
Having set the prosaic tone of his campaign against the charismatic Stokes, Perk is now attacking the mayor's record. He is aiming at non-backlash middle-class white voters who gave Stokes his 1,600-vote margin over Republican Seth Taft in 1967. It's an uphill fight, but he has assets Taft never had.

For example, Stokes has lost the backing of powerful black moderates, such as Dr. Kenneth Clement. They claim Stokes has yielded too much to black militants like Ahmed Evans, now under sentence of death for murdering a policeman.

More important, the exciting quality of Stokes's 1967 race, when Martin Luther King came here to help, is missing. Some whites who backed Stokes to assuage subconscious guilt feelings may desert him now.

But to win, the Republicans need a huge white vote, no easy matter in this unexciting campaign. Whatever happens Nov. 4, however, the campaign has proved so far that a white-black contest in a big Northern city can be waged without raising tensions in a place already tormented by racial emotions. Here, the backlash is being consciously suppressed.

Confrontation Leaves Holes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mose Alexander's religious shop was suddenly minus one customer and one window Friday night with only a bullet hole in the wall to show for it.

Alexander, 54, told police an unidentified customer was confronted by a second man who demanded: "Where's that money you owe me?"

He said a shot was fired through the patron's hat. The assailant then fled out a door as the patron plunged through a glass window and vanished in another direction.

Your Money's Worth Small Investor Usually Runs Short on Advice

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If I were to tell you that the investment advice given to the small investor in the U.S. is far inferior to that given to the Big Guy, you well might protest "oh there she goes again waving the flag for the little fellow! It's probably so but she can't prove it."

But wait — if I were to tell you that the men and women who give that advice agree the above is true, wouldn't you be more impressed and deeply disturbed?

Okay, I'm telling you that this is the opinion of an overwhelming percentage of the nation's security analysts recently surveyed by Don Howard Personnel, Inc., a leading personnel organization serving the financial industries. Here are the key findings slated for release later this week.

—A shocking 7 out of 10 — 72.1 per cent — of the security analysts have "reservations about the advice available to the small investor as compared with that given the large one."

—Only 3 out of 10 — 34.3 per cent — believe that "the quality of investment advice now available adequately serves all type of investors."

—A fat majority thinks that the quality of investment advice is a long-term problem related to the structure of "Wall Street."

—Almost half — 46 per cent — favor "some form of blanket registration of security analysts" (in short, greater control).

Serious Indictment

This is a serious indictment of investment advice by the advice industry itself. What's more, the indictment was uncovered by accident. The Don Howard survey was designed primarily to collect data on employment, pay, education, etc. and the questions on investment advice were added as an afterthought. Here are quotes which I picked out at random which underline the attitudes even more.

Brokerage analyst, 43 years old, 19 years experience: "You know damn well why a research firm favors the large institutional investor with better research. (1) competition; (2) bigger or better orders; (3) double standard of business morality."

Brokerage analyst, 45 years old, 10 years experience: "The amount of compensation basically determines the amount of advice — poor or good."

Brokerage analyst, female, 60 years old, 30 years experience: "It is simply not profitable to service small investors."

Brokerage analyst, 32 years old, 12 years experience: "You can't devote the time and attention to a $25,000 account that you do to a $25 million account and still make a profit. The industry (and I speak as a broker-investment banker) has not defined its obligations to the small investor in adequate terms."

Turned Away

By itself, this report would be sobering enough. It becomes even more so when piled on top of the fact that more and more of Wall Street's firms are flatly turning away the small investor as an unprofitable nuisance. It gains additional weight when viewed against the background of mounting pressures for higher commission rates on small investor transactions.

In the tortured baffleleg of New York Stock Exchange president Robert W. Haack, "any disincentive to attract new, small investors to the securities markets must be eliminated."

Military Budget Cuts Urged by Two Senators

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin's two U.S. senators appealed during the weekend for a reduction in military spending.

Sen. William Proxmire said cutting war spending by up to $15 billion annually and the space program by up to $2 billion would be preferable to using the income surtax as an anti-inflation step.

His fellow Democrat, Gaiard Nelson, said the military budget should be cut by $50 billion, and that the money be spent instead on such problems as hunger, conservation and physical conditions of cities.

Proxmire, during a televised interview Sunday, said a wise government could probably trim up to $4 billion from public works projects as well. He too suggested more funds be used for domestic needs—including pollution.

Nelson spoke Saturday to a farm meeting in Chippewa Falls, saying a "bold and shocking solution" to domestic needs would be to cut the annual military budget from $80 billion to $30 billion.

"If we don't cut back and solve other ills," Nelson said, "then we don't have to worry about who is going to drop the first bomb because we will be destroyed from within by our deteriorated environment."

Proxmire said he likes the attitude which President Nixon seems to be taking toward reform of the federal welfare system.

"The basic concept is good, and I think merits support," he said. The senator cited Nixon's comments on job training and more equal welfare benefit levels between states.

"I think that President Nixon must realize that it is going to be an enormously costly program before we are through with it," Proxmire said.

Economy elsewhere in the government, however, would offset the costs, Proxmire said.

College-Business Symposium Set

MADISON — Seven speakers will highlight the fifth Semi-annual College-Business Symposium of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Quality Courts Motel here.

Invitations were sent to students and faculty members of 45 southern Wisconsin universities and colleges, both public and private.

Keynote speaker for the symposium will be Harold O. Drosch, Pittsburgh, general manager of automotive and consumers industries marketing for United States Steel Corp.

Two panel discussions will be presented throughout the day, featuring speakers from both business and universities. Students will have an opportunity to ask questions, and also will participate in a "profit-estimating" contest.

Quiet Weekend Follows Closing Of Ulster Bars

Police Uncertain Of Reason for Lack of Disturbance

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police and British army officials say they are satisfied with the results of closing the bars in Northern Ireland three hours early on weekends.

It was tried Friday and Saturday nights, and the only incidents reported were two gasoline bombs thrown and a Protestant women's sit-down Saturday night.

"Let's hope we can have a repeat of this quiet weekend," an army spokesman said.

"It's difficult to say whether the experiment is directly responsible," a police spokesman said. "After all, we've had some weekends without riots even in the past two months."

The man in the street felt the ban would be back next weekend. One pointed to the abstinence record of Sir Arthur Young, the new police chief from London. He said on arriving in Belfast, "I don't like the taste of alcohol."

Soccer Matches
Apparently most Roman Catholics and Protestants preferred to watch soccer on television rather than gather on street corners as they have on weekend nights during the past two months.

Bartenders said the 7 p.m. closing didn't cut down the volume of drinking. Customers just drank faster.

"I've seen more people under the influence these last two nights than in the last two months," said one bartender. "They just pour it down as fast as they can, then go home with a bottle."

Home Minister Robert Porter contends that alcohol has contributed to the weekend rioting that has taken 15 lives this year.

Paisley Antirum
He got support from both sides of the religious divide. The Rev. Ian Paisley, the militant Protestant, is just as antirum as he is anti-Roman. Some leaders of the Catholic Republican Movement denounce drink as a cause of Ireland's troubles.

About 50 miles southwest of Belfast just over the border in the Irish Republic, saboteurs tried early today to blow up an electric station and wrecked the station's transformer.

One of the saboteurs was injured and taken to a hospital in critical condition. He suffered burns when he became entangled in high tension wires.

Identities Unrevealed Hijackers Win Asylum From West Germans

BERLIN (AP) — Two East German hijackers were granted asylum in West Germany Sunday, and the Polish airliner they commandeered at gunpoint returned to the eastern zone with its other 63 passengers and nine crewmen.

The two men, described only as being in their early 20s, stepped from the plane at Tegel Field, in the French sector of Berlin, seconds after landing and said they were defecting. One had a pistol in his hand.

Witnesses at the field said two Communist MIGs shadowed the Lot Airlines plane, a four-engine Ilyushin 18, as it made its approach but "it landed anyway," a policeman said.

Slightly Hurt
There were unconfirmed reports that a crew member was injured slightly by the hijackers when they commandeered the plane over East Berlin.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said airmen in the Tegel control center had no idea that the plane was about to land.

"He came out of nowhere," the spokesman said, "then he just landed. There was no voice communications with him. He flew a very irregular pattern."

The Polish government television service said "two armed individuals" forced their way into the pilot's cabin and terrorized the crew. It said the pilot notified the Warsaw airport of the hijacking immediately after the two entered the cabin.

The flight originated at Warsaw, was scheduled to stop in East Berlin and then Brussels. The plane stayed three hours in West Berlin, then flew to East Berlin's Schönefeld Airport. Another Polish airliner picked up the Brussels passengers there and flew them to the Belgian capital.

Cosmonauts Didn't Do Anything Spectacular on Troika Mission

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — The failure of Soviet cosmonauts to put together a space station on the three-ship flight last week could result in a shift of emphasis back to unmanned flights.

The lack of any spectacular achievement by the seven spacemen seems to have put the proponents of manned flights on the defensive. They talk as if they are trying to stave off a return to the policy of extreme caution that followed the Soyuz 1 crash in April 1967 in which a cosmonaut was killed.

This tragic setback obviously shook the Kremlin badly and made it extremely leery of manned flights. The Soviet press took to extolling unmanned flights, saying they were just as useful as manned missions in obtaining scientific information and preferable because no risk of human life was involved.

U.S. Program
The de-emphasis of the cosmonaut program took some of the sting from comparisons with what the United States was accomplishing with men in space during this period.

A more favorable attitude toward manned flights started to show after the successful flight of Soyuz 3 last October and the linkup of Soyuz 4 and 5 in January.

The Soviet leaders seemed reassured of the safety of manned flights and once again confident that their space program could hold its own in direct competition with the U.S. effort.

If the Soyuz troika had produced a big leap forward, more manned flights could have been expected in the near future, with perhaps landings to the moon or plants from an orbiting platform.

Old Worries Revived
How serious the trouble was will be kept secret. Possibly it was minor and will not significantly slow down the manned program. But if it was serious and the Kremlin's old worries have revived, the Soviet leaders could well prefer to retreat to the former, safer position. This could mean a long reappraisal before any more manned flights.

In one interview, the unidentified chief designer of spaceships said: "No matter how perfect automatic equipment is and how high the level of automation, it is the man whose decisions are most important. In the conditions of flight, especially when various operations are being performed, the cosmonaut plays an extremely great role. In the formula man-machine, the machine is merely an object to be controlled."

Best Results
Another unidentified scientist who took part in developing the Soyuz control system said: "The best results are yielded by a reasonable combination of man the researcher and automatic equipment."

Another space authority, identified only as a "leading specialist," declared: "The building of orbital stations is the central problem of cosmonautics today. Extraterrestrial laboratories will have to be first built on earth, then dismantled and taken into orbit and fitted together into a single whole."

The chief designer endorsed this emphasizing the importance of welding in space, tried for the first time in Soyuz 6.

"Welding in space holds great promise," he said. "Some people believe now that it will be possible to build various objects in space, assembling them with the use of automation alone. But it is not like that. I believe that the assembly of various constructions will be mechanized to the utmost, but manual work will still be needed. Welding is just this type of work."

Trial Set in Fatal Shooting

GREEN BAY (AP) — Trial has been scheduled Nov. 4 on charges against a Green Bay hunter stemming from the fatal shooting of a man Oct. 5.

Kenneth H. Kuntz, 35, pleaded innocent last week to two misdemeanor charges—carrying a loaded weapon in a motorboat and causing the death of another by reckless use of a firearm.

Alex F. Nier, 44, was shot while in some tall weeds with his son.

Authorities said they were told the fatal shot had been fired at a mud hen.

Nat Cole's Widow Weds TV Producer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Nat "King" Cole's widow, Maria, has married Gary Devore, a television producer.

Disclosure of the ceremony Friday, attended only by the families of the bride and groom, was made Sunday.

The former Maria Hawkins met Cole in 1948 while she was singing with Duke Ellington's band. She is now hostess of a Los Angeles television show.

Weapons and Ammunition they discovered are examined by Pvt. Randall Salers, left, and Pfc. John R. Merrill. Their unit the 3rd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne, was checking out the Iron Triangle area, about 25 miles northwest of Saigon. They found the weapons after tripping over a trip door in an abandoned bunker. Underneath was a tunnel leading to the arms cache.

Guessing About Call-Up Draft Lottery Could Bring Sudden Interest in 'Odds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's draft lottery system—if it passes Congress—sure to bring out a talent among the country's 18-year-olds for figuring mathematical probabilities.

Critics say the plan will leave most young men guessing about just when they might be called the following year and their chances for escaping the draft entirely.

But armed with a few basic figures those guesses can get pretty close. And some men won't have to guess at all.

The plan for drafting 19-year-olds first on a lottery basis is likely to pass the House late this week. It is still an open question in the Senate.

The 365 birthdates for the following year would be drawn out of a fish bowl at a public lottery in late September or early October each year.

First Drawn
There's little guesswork for able-bodied men whose 19th birthdays fall on the first dates drawn: they'll be among the first men called early the next year.

And men with birthdays on the last 150 or more dates drawn will likely escape the draft entirely.

Everybody else will have to take out his scratchpad and pencil and start figuring the odds on the basis of the number of men in the draft pool and the rate at which they're being called up each month.

If the system were in effect now, as Selective Service officials explain it, 18-year-olds would figure there would be something like 600,000 available for the draft next year after rejections and deferments.

Drop in Draft
Draft calls hopefully will drop off to something like 200,000 from this year's 300,000 plus.

That would mean men with birthdays on the last 200 or so dates drawn in the lottery would likely escape the draft and those with the first 100 birthdates drawn would probably be called. The remaining 65 birthdates would be borderline cases.

The call-ups vary from month to month but a man who drew the 100th date could figure he'd be called near the end of the year, a man who drew 50 would

All-Inclusive Federal Rail Safety Regulation Measures Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — 7,294 in 1967, up 75.8 per cent. Spurred by the "new and catastrophic potential for death and destruction" in train wrecks, the Nixon administration has proposed the first comprehensive federal railroad safety legislation.

—Volpe estimates that three-fourths of all accidents are caused by factors—such as improperly maintained track and defective rolling stock—not covered by existing rail safety laws. Labor proponents of safety legislation estimate the percentage is closer to 95.

Sending the recommendations to Congress, Transportation Secretary John Volpe last week cited "a steadily rising trend" in rail accidents, many involving shipments of hazardous poisons and explosives.

"Existing rail safety statutes are inadequate to enable the government to respond to the problem," Volpe said, noting that—in an abrupt about-face since last spring—the railroads themselves now seem to agree.

Escaped Standards
Unlike airlines and trucks, railroads thus far have escaped any sort of comprehensive minimum safety standards set by the government, despite attempts in the past to pass such legislation.

The proposal itself does not outline specific safety measures, rather it would permit the secretary of transportation to draw up regulations setting minimum standards for, among other items, tracks, rolling stock and loading procedures.

The administration bill, written from the report of a task force composed of railroad management, labor and government representatives, is the third such safety measures to be introduced this year.

Separate Bills
Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., have introduced their own bills—both of which remain in committee.

All three measures are prompted, in part, by these statistics:

—Since 1964, derailments of trains carrying hazardous materials have forced the warlike evacuation of more than 40 American communities.

—Train accidents have increased from 4,149 in 1961 to 7,294 in 1967.

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Sheinwold Don't Let Singleton Cause Panic

Millions of otherwise rational bridge players go through life in fear of small animals: They're in a hurry to take their aces before the mice get at them. I have made a patient study of both the European and the American mouse, and can assure my readers that the normal mouse has only a mild interest in aces. And after all, what bridge player wants to admit that he's worried about abnormal mice.

Declarer took the first trick with dummy's ten of hearts in order to lead the singleton spade. The average mouse-fearing bridge player would play the ace of spades at once from the East hand, and that would end the defense. East returns a trump, but South wins and ruffs a low spade in dummy.

South returns to his hand with the ace of diamonds to draw the last trump, and then he leads the king of spades. The queen of spades drops, and South is home. South needs luck, and helpful defense, to make the contract, largely because the opening trump lead got the defenders off on the right foot.

Better Defense
East does better if he is not worried that the mice will get at his ace of spades. When declarer leads dummy's eight of spades at the second trick, East must casually play low.

East cannot lose his ace. South can ruff only two spades in the dummy, and East will eventually get his ace even if South guesses the winning play.

In this position, however, South is almost sure to try a finesse with the jack of spades on the theory that East doesn't have the ace if he doesn't play it. South's natural bad guess allows West to take the queen of spades and return a second trump. Then South will go down two instead of making his contract.

An expert defender should make up his mind in advance that he will almost never play his ace when dummy's singleton is led through him. This bold decision will seldom cost a trick; and it will often pay big dividends.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 7 2, H-6 7 6, D-K 9 2, C-K 7 5 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. Your flat distribution tempts you to bid 1-NT, but then you won't know what to do if partner bids two spades. You can't afford to bid twice with this hand, but you also cannot afford to withhold the spade support. Show the support at your first opportunity and you can safely leave the rest to your partner.

Chilton Germania Celebrates 50th Year

CLINTONVILLE—About 250 members of the G. U. G. Germania from 19 local help ed celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Local No. 6 of Chilton at St. Mary's Church Hall Thursday.

Just a half century ago, the charter of the Chilton local was signed. First president of the Germania Society was Mrs. Mike Meier; first secretary was Mrs. Joe Reinkober, and Mrs. Bertha Lauden served as financial secretary.

Meetings at that time were held on the third floor of the Central House and 15 members signed the charter. They were Anna Meier, Katherine Reinkober, Ida Baldock, Magdalene Seuer, Louise Goeldi, Amanda Hass, Anna Gruettner, Edna Voigt, Anna Papke, Magdalene Hein, Katherine Koehler, Emma Jodar, Lenna Rollman, Gertie Franzen and Kathryn Lopas.

The society presently has 168 members in good standing, plus four social members. Social members to not vote or hold any elected offices.

Mrs. August Plockelmann, who joined in 1919, is the oldest member, while Mrs. Anna Lauden, of Gravesville is the oldest in age of the group. She resides at the nursing home and was not present for the celebration. Mrs. Plockelmann was in attendance.

Mrs. August Plockelmann, who joined Germania in 1919, was present.

The G. U. G. Germania, a charitable and benevolent society, got its beginning in the summer of 1916 when a welfare group consisting of all German speaking groups of Milwaukee, organized to help people who had been hard hit in World War One.

Through efforts of the welfare group and other civic organizations, they raised $80,000 toward the Aid for European Relief. The women felt they could help the men more as separate group and soon formed the Germania circle.

The Rev. Quentin Moeschberger was toastmaster for the day and Mayor Harry Thompson opened the city in welcome to the Germania groups.

Entertainment was provided by the Kennedy 4-H Club and the Germania Sextet plus One, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Connors.

Living past presidents of the Chilton local who attended were Mrs. Dora Zorn, Sheboygan, and Mrs. Emil Steiner, route 1, New Holstein. Mrs. Helen Hoss, who was state president 40 years ago, also was present.

Survey Reports Women Support Death Penalty

A national magazine survey reports that 3 out of 5 women believe that capital punishment should be revived as a deterrent to murder, treason and sex crimes. Over 62 per cent of U. S. women polled by Good Housekeeping cast their votes with a statement submitted to the editors by Mario Procaccino, Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, who favors restoring the death penalty.

In an exclusive statement, appearing in the November issue, City Controller Procaccino, who has based his political campaign on the law and order issue, asserts that "major crimes against persons and property are on the rise everywhere. To secure the safety of our streets and the security of our homes," he declares, "we should, among other measures, reinstate the death penalty in first-degree murder convictions."

Death Not Answer

A cross-section of over 1,000 people were asked if they agreed with Mr. Procaccino, or whether they lined up with former U. S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who opposes the death penalty. Mr. Clark, who served during the Johnson administration, maintains that "our survival depends on a reverence for life." He points out that over 70 nations and 14 states have abolished capital punishment. In the U. S., "the last time the law took a human life was June 2, 1967," he adds.

The poll's findings indicate that only 35 per cent of the respondents agree with Mr. Clark. Of this group, one upstate New York woman contends that capital punishment "does nothing to change the reasons for violent crime. It makes criminals of us all, since we must all share the guilt of having committed legal murder." Only 2 per cent of those replying to the survey offered no opinion.

Of the women who favored reviving the death sentence, 85 per cent would invoke the penalty in first-degree murder convictions. Political assassinations came next with a tally of 75 per cent, while some 65 per cent would demand the death penalty for killers of policemen. Sixty per cent believe that death should be the punishment for treason during wartime. Sex criminals would be condemned to death by 49 per cent.

Among the two-to-one majority who endorse capital punishment, some cited reduction in the prison population as a reason for their views, and expressed little faith in rehabilitation.

In general, support of the death penalty by the women does not constitute a desire for revenge or retribution in the Biblical "eye-for-an-eye" sense. Rather, they are prompted by fear of the rising crime rate and hope that the death penalty will discourage future violence.

Eligibility of Children

These benefits are for children under 18 or between the ages of 18 and 22 if they are full-time students. Providing their deceased mother was fully insured under Social Security, these children are entitled to benefits, even though their father supports them and may have remarried. Furthermore, these children are eligible even if their deceased mother had left the labor market after marriage and was not actively supporting them at the time of her death.

"Before the law was changed," said Mr. Stamler, "if the mother had worked under Social Security, but had left the labor market before she died and had not been supporting the children — the father was supporting the children — under the old law these children were not entitled to monthly benefits. In February 1968, however, the law was changed so that if the mother had been insured under Social Security, even though at the time she died she had not been working, monthly benefits were payable on her account to any children under 18 or children between 18 and 22 who were full-time students."

BY FRIEDA KAYE

NEW YORK — Thousands of young adults and children are losing out on valuable Social Security benefits because they are unaware that a change in the law has made them eligible.

These eligible beneficiaries are disabled workers under 65 and the children of mothers who died prior to February 1968 but who once worked, possibly even before marriage, on jobs covered by Social Security.

The number of missing beneficiaries is unknown, according to Max Stamler, assistant district manager of the midtown New York Social Security office. Speaking of the children who are missing out on benefits, Mr. Stamler said: "At the time this law was changed we estimated that there would be approximately 200,000 children in the United States who would become eligible for benefits. I think there are still many thousands who have not filed because they are not aware of the change. We are trying to reach them because valuable benefits are involved."

Disabled Workers Mr. Stamler pointed out that there is no problem in finding children of eligible mothers who died after February 1968. "The problem concerns children of mothers who died before February 1968. Under the law in existence at that time they were not eligible, and there would therefore be no way of knowing about them."

Many young disabled workers may also be losing out on benefits. "From time to time," said Mr. Stamler, "people come in who could have been collecting for quite some time and who had lost benefits because they didn't file on time."

To qualify, the disabled worker — who may be as young as 21 or 22 — must have been insured under Social Security. "If they became disabled after they were 31 years of age they would need at least five years of work in the 10-year period before their disability qualified them. If they became disabled before age 31, it could be as little as a year and a half, depending on the age they became disabled."

Further information at Office The disability must prevent the applicant from doing any kind of work. "If the disability is so severe that they can't do any work and it is expected to last for at least a year, they would be eligible for Social Security benefits beginning with the seventh month they are disabled," Mr. Stamler said. Qualified dependents also receive monthly benefits.

Disability benefits are for those under 65, but the disability has to be a severe one. However, Mr. Stamler noted that there are many qualifying illnesses and disabilities "that are not the kind that paralyze or leave you helpless." These include a severe heart ailment that prevents the insured, qualified person from working, or an accident that disables the insured applicant for a year or more.

Those with questions about their possible eligibility under either of these programs are urged to contact their nearest Social Security office.

Oshkosh Part of Party Line for Inactive Nurses

BY ANNE MCKEE NILES
MADISON — Inactive nurses in Wisconsin are the beneficiaries of a winning and unique program in continuing education underwritten by The Wisconsin Regional Medical Program, Inc. and coordinated by the Department of Nursing, University Extension, Health Sciences Unit, University of Wisconsin.

As a matter of fact, the program is entitled W.I.N.S. — short for Wisconsin Inactive Nurses Studies — and has been tailored to the needs of the professional nurse not wants to keep in touch with currently practicing but who developments in nursing.

a private telephone line, a telephone loudspeaker to amplify the incoming program, and a telephone headset to communicate with the lecturer. In other posts, special FM radio receivers are used with direct telephone line to WHA available for two-way communication.

Listeners are encouraged to write to Mrs. Lutz with special problems on nursing they may want assistance with — or even to "sound off" with opinions.

Twice a Month
 Initial sessions focused on locating and using resources materials along with discussions on recent developments in nursing, changes in medications, and sessions on diabetes and emphysema. Programs for the fall are concerned with obstetric nursing, emergency care, the role of the nurse today, and trends in nursing education. The series has been scheduled for the second Wednesdays and fourth Mondays of each month from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m., and began September 22.

There is no cost to the nurse for enrolling in the W.I.N.S. program, and funds from the Wisconsin Regional Medical Program have provided special materials mailed to enrollees prior to each program.

Tapes of the programs are available on loan for those who are enrolled but are unable to attend sessions, and study groups have also been encouraged to review and discuss the tapes.

In addition to serving an educational purpose, the seminars have brought together nurses unknown to each other but living within a community. Car pooling and group discussions have stimulated them to renew old friendships or to form new ones.

Summer Gap
 To bridge the summer gap between the spring and fall telelectures, several special offerings were available to participants in the W.I.N.S. program. These included the loan of individual programmed instructional units on nine different subjects and the loan of a book on nursing trends, along with a taped review of the book from a previous program.

That nurses are making use of the resources they learned about during the spring seminar has shown up in the increased circulation of books and periodicals available from the University Extension and Reference and Loan Libraries. In addition, more than 10 per cent of the enrollees have requested subscriptions to professional nursing periodicals.

The Wisconsin Regional Medical Program, Inc., source of funds for the W.I.N.S. program, is a non-profit voluntary corporation whose objective is to close the gap between research and service in combating heart disease, stroke, cancer and other chronic diseases. One way to do this is to provide grants for programs in the continuing education of health personnel so that the latest information in the prevention and treatment of these conditions may benefit the patient. The major source of funds supporting the activities of WRMP come from the federal government. The programs were developed under Public Law 89-239 in 1965.

Your Problems

His Wife's Mother Is Chronic Shop Lifter

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife's mother is a chronic shoplifter. It is a known fact in our family that she stole the statuette on the coffee table from Sears and the lamp from Montgomery Ward. Last year she walked out of Polk Brothers with a vacuum cleaner.

which she knows are stolen, condones her mother's criminal behavior. You must not allow it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For

Landers

My wife and her sister do not shoplift but they see nothing wrong in Mama's shoplifting. Last year my mother-in-law asked my wife and her sister what they wanted for Christmas. They both wanted automatic electric toasters so Mama went out and stole a couple.

I got mad over this and we had a big argument. My wife explained that her mother was raised during the depression when nobody had any money. Whatever people wanted they stole. She never got out of the habit. My wife insists that since it was part of her early training it is not immoral. Please comment—Losing the Debate.

Dear L. D.: Your mother-in-law is not immoral. She is amoral. This means she has no conscience, no concern for right or wrong. If she is caught, she will not be invited to debate ethics or talk about the depression. She will be booked like any other thief. Your wife, by accepting gifts generations our family has collected Americana. I inherited from my great-grandmother an American flag with the regulation stripe design but the stars form the letters U.S.A. Since there are 48 stars in this flag it must have been made after 1912. It is of good quality cotton and machine sewn, so there must be others.

We've checked with the Smithsonian Institution and various flag books but have been unable to learn the origin of this flag. Can you or your readers help us? — Flagged Down in Kansas City

Dear F.D.: The fact that the flag is machine sewn is not evidence that there are others. It is possible that one of your ancestors whipped up that flag on her own sewing machine for a 4th of July picnic in Salina.

If any reader has a better version, please let me know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son is in his late 20s. When Boyd was 19 he was to be married but his fiancée was killed in an accident three days before the wedding. He never got over it.

Boyd has cut himself off from all his old friends. He has a good job and makes a nice living but he's like a different person. Yesterday Boyd told me he is taking a larger apartment because he needs more room. An 18-year-old boy is moving in with him.

I'm sure Boyd is sick but nobody can talk to him. The high school lad has turned against his parents and refuses to listen to them. He has no idea what he's getting himself into, Ann. Can my son be arrested? I am worried sick. — Ill in Illinois

Dear Ill: You say the boy has no idea what he's getting into. I'm not so sure. In Illinois, homosexual activity between two consenting adults is no longer a crime. Since the boy is 18 he is an adult. Moving in, of his own free will, is tantamount to "consent."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

Fish, Eggs, Cheese Give Cheaper Protein Supply

BY ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — With meat prices still high despite some drop in recent weeks, many shoppers are turning to other food items to supply needed protein in daily diets.

Such action can serve a double purpose. It can save money, and if enough people follow the same course, the drop in demand for meat products could bring prices down still further.

The principal substitutes for meat, of course, are fish, eggs and cheese, but not all such products are cheaper than meat for the same amount of protein. The best way to compare protein values is to determine the cost of the protein content at typical market prices.

Canned Mackerel Cheapest

According to surveys done recently by Sidney Margolius, Elaine Ruderman and Judith Siegel, the cheapest sources of protein are canned mackerel, sardines and tuna in that order. The cost of 100 grams of protein was 31, 49, and 57 cents respectively. (There are 28 grams in an ounce.)

In comparison, Margolius reports 75 cents as the cost of 100 grams of protein in cheddar cheese and 85 cents for the same amount of protein in eggs.

For the same amount of protein, he figures it would cost 63 cents for beef liver, 79 cents for broilers, 80 cents for turkeys, 93 cents for liverwurst, 95 cents for ground beef, 96 cents for cured ham with bone in, 97 cents for luncheon meat and $1.01 for beef chuck with bone in.

By comparison, the same amount of protein would cost $1.35 in hot dogs, $1.80 in round steak and $2.47 in bacon.

Not all fish items are cheaper than meat, however. Halibut steak is listed at 97 cents and cod fillets at 99 cents per 100 grams of protein.

Another way to compare protein costs is to assume roughly the same amount of protein per serving and then determine the cost of a serving on the basis of typical prices in the store. Misses Ruderman and Siegel did this recently for the New York State Extension Service.

Their survey showed that the cheapest meats per serving were beef liver; ground beef, precooked canned ham, lamb breast, lamb kidney and roast-ers. All were listed below 20 cents per serving.

Serving costs of 20 to 29 cents were listed for beef stew meat, beef tongue, ground chuck, ground round, pork shoulder chops, smoked ham shank half, fresh butt, smoked shoulder butt without bone, veal stew meat, veal breast, stewing hen and broiler-fryers.

Most expensive, at 60 cents or more per serving, were porterhouse steak, delmonico steak, boneless club, pork spare ribs, veal loin chops, lam chops and duck. Servings ranged from 2½ to 3½ ounces each.

In the middle price areas, between 30 and 59 cents per serving, were chuck steak, cube steak, fresh ham, loin roast, veal loin chops, lamb chops and turkey, flank steak, boneless chuck steak, sirloin steak.

Everything's Comin' Up Spring Fashions

Mothers Fight to Sustain Research on Mongolism

the East

BY LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — In the spring, a young women's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of lovely fashions, to parody the poet. And Seventh Avenue designers are doing all they can to help.

Even though the first crisp days of fall are barely here, American ready-to-wear designers have spent the past few weeks showing clothes for spring and resort wear.

Most of the collections are lightweight versions of the fall and winter clothes, which means hemlines hop all over the place, foundation garments are few and silhouettes follow the figure without confining it.

One of the prettiest collections was Oscar de la Renta's, full of ruffles and flounces reminiscent of French can-can dancers.

De la Renta showed short and long dresses and pants suits, most with matching evening bags, with contrasting silk braid embroidery in color combinations like red and white, apricot and green and navy and white.

The designer, whose clothes cost from $250 to $3,000, also introduced an outfit that resembled a girl's gym suit, with bloomer pants.

Other de la Renta specialties included bolero vests of glass beads patched together to look like mosaics and fringed shawls.

The biggest applause getter at Bill Blass wasn't a dress at all—it was a pair of white Russian wolfhounds.

The model brought the wolfhounds out with one of Blass' white crepe evening dresses. One of the best of the group was a stark white and caramel sheath worn with a navy scarf tied at the shoulder.

Blass described his clothes as "a collection of clothes for warm places and a collection to get there in."

For day there was what the designer called "the return of the suit suit," with fitted, peaked lapel jackets—"borrowed from the fella's"—and winging, pleated skirts or slim midis.

Jacques Tiffeau—whose clothes are a mere $145 to $350—opened his show with a poster reading: "No beading. No lame. No jewels. No feathers." There wasn't much of anything else either.

Full-sleeved short jackets belted slightly above the waist—like Tiffeau's winter "hapi" coats—topped both skirts and pants. Halter-like ties were wrapped around the bodices of little linen dresses.

Some of the prints were outstanding. A pants suit including high-waisted, full-skirted tunic was done in a brilliant silk print.

Chester Weinberg and Geoffrey Beene's clothes also were practically carbons of their winter collections. Weinberg's styles were long and skinny—like his customers—and Beene's were typically high waisted and dirdl skirted.

Beene—who introduced a "restaurant length" midi skirt last fall, generally avoided the odd hemline for spring. Most long skirts were obviously intended for evening and maxi coats were generally confined to topping pants suits.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization of mothers of Mongoloid children has mounted a national letter-writing campaign, protesting what it terms a threat to a promising research program against Mongolism.

The program is reported to be the only one of its type still in existence in the United States.

Mrs. Donald G. Wyman of Alexandria, Va., mother of a 4-year-old Mongoloid boy, and spokesman for the organization of 25 Washington-area mothers called "Mothers of Young Mongoloids," is leading the fight.

Program Would Be Stopped
Mrs. Wyman said in an interview her group is concerned about a "proposed cut" in appropriations to the government's National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness. She said this would "effectively close down" a human experimental drug program against at least one aspect of Mongolism being conducted by Dr. Mary Coleman of Children's Hospital in Washington.

Mongolism is a malady characterized by serious mental retardation as well as by physical defects including poor muscle tone and coordination; a broad face; flat or stubby nose; and obliquely-set eyes.

Dr. Coleman declined to discuss details of her program, but it was learned authoritatively it involves use of an experimental drug duplicating a natural chemical deficient in the brains of Mongoloid victims.

Letter Campaign Organized
Mrs. Wyman said Dr. Coleman, like various others, is threatened with a cut in a House-approved appropriations bill currently pending before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash.

Mrs. Wyman said her organization sent messages to local organizations for retarded children throughout the country—and to other "friends"—suggesting the following message to Magnuson and other members of his subcommittee:

"I protest the proposed cut in appropriations to the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, allocated through the National Institutes of Health and budgeted by the Health, Education and Welfare Department. This cut would effectively close down the last program in this country doing medical research on a phase of . . . (Mongolism) . . ."

"Dr. Mary Coleman, Children's Hospital, Washington, D.C., has spent three years replacing a deficient brain chemical—serotonin—in Mongoloid babies . . . (after) . . . 20 years of laboratory and animal work."

"This human experimentation has resulted in definite improvement in muscle tone and coordination. The I. Q. (intelligence quotient) results are inconclusive as yet."

"Please allow her the time and money to finish her work."

Asked the results of the letter-writing campaign, Mrs. Wyman said her organization does not know yet how many letters have been written. But she said a check with the offices of Magnuson's committee members shows that "mail is running high—and all in favor of no cuts."

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at H. C. Prange Co. and other stores with fashion spirit.

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With a low bow to television, California's fashion designers switched on their spring showings Sunday night with styles straight from the late-late show and the evening news.

They indicated their week-long showings would change fashion channels rapidly, clicking from 1940s Betty Davis gowns with shoulder pads to 1970s micromini "fun" dresses of today's glamor girls.

The first bouquet to television was a fashion award to Michael Travis, creator of costumes for the weekly "Laugh-In" show. He was cited by the California Fashion Creators for "the best interpretation of contemporary fashion in television costuming."

One designer explained: "He reflects the fashion industry's moods and whims."

Travis proved that with a wildly varied show of "Laugh-In" fashions modeled by lady cast members The pants, dresses and gowns were culed from the show's "cocktail party" segments and ranged from a shoulder-padded 1940s gown to a Betty Davis to a micromini bubble of ostrich feathers a la Goldie Hawn.

Designers preparing to parade out their new collections seemed divided on a favorite era—yesterday, today or tomorrow. They settled for all of them.

Sportswear designers said they would swing from the flat, no-bra look of the 1920s to the "funky thrift-shop look" of the 1930s and '40s. But all promised to zero in on a new look for 1970 which would emphasize freedom.

"My clothes will let the person shine through," said new California designer Nani Yee. "You can breathe in them." She said they would range from simple new knits to "funny little dresses in old lady prints."

Thus, fashion's keywords from California this year—"funny," "funky" and "freedom." The designers promised definitions later this week.

How to Select Fire Extinguishers

To control a small fire or to delay development of a large one, every home needs a portable fire extinguisher, says Donald Jensen, safety specialist at the University of Wisconsin. The need for a portable fire extinguisher in the home is even greater if you live in a rural rather than an urban area because it often takes longer for the fire equipment to reach the location of the fire once it has been reported.

Fire extinguishers are classified according to their type and use. Water-type fire extinguishers are recommended for wood, paper and rubbish fire. They should not be used on grease or gasoline fires nor on electrical fires. Soda acid, pump tank and pressurized water extinguishers are the three examples of water-type extinguishers available.

To control grease, gasoline, oil, paint, kerosene and solvent fires, the dry chemical, carbon dioxide, multi-purpose dry chemical and foam type fire extinguishers are recommended. With the exception of the foam type extinguisher, electrical equipment fires are also controlled by the above type extinguishers.

Check the label for approval by a recognized testing laboratory such as Underwriters' Laboratories or Factory Mutual, suggests Jensen.

Three-Year Expansion

Phones Pace Valley Growth

Much of the $19 million Wisconsin Telephone Company's Northern Division will spend each of the next three years will be funneled into expansion in the Fox Valley area.

L. T. Jackson, division managing engineer, Appleton, said this morning that $3.5 million to $4 million in expansion's expected annually for the Kaukauna to Fond du Lac area.

"In the Fox Valley we've got a tremendous growth, and that's what we're trying to respond to," Jackson said.

He said that only in metropolitan Milwaukee is Wisconsin Telephone funneling more expansion money.

Jackson, who is responsible for evaluating the division growth program, said the $19 million figure undoubtedly will be revised upward in the future because of the accelerated needs for telephone service. The division includes most of Wisconsin from north of Madison to Superior to Green Bay and to the fringes of Milwaukee.

Rural Conversion

The division is spending about $2 million a year to convert rural areas from eight-party to one-, two-, and four-party lines. This includes more than $200,000 for the Wrightstown area, which is the final Appleton rural area to be converted.

The Wrightstown project is to be completed in April of 1970.

Other conversions are the Oshkosh rural area by March, 1971, for about $200,000; Fond du Lac by December, 1969, for $1 million, and Winneconne, April, 1972, for $200,000.

Jackson said the conversion is in line with an agreement with the Wisconsin Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, and all cables are buried. The division conversion program must be completed by 1973.

With conversion and expansion of service to new areas, switching equipment and outside plant equipment, mainly cables, also must be increased.

For switching equipment to connect new parties with a city network, the division expects annual expenditures of about $450,000 for Appleton, $200,000 for Oshkosh, $150,000 for Neenah-Menasha, $100,000 for Kaukauna and Little Chute.

For switching equipment to connect new parties with a city network, the division expects annual expenditures of about $450,000 for Appleton, $200,000 for Oshkosh, $150,000 for Neenah-Menasha, $100,000 for Kaukauna and Little Chute.

For the interconnecting cables to tie new parties with other cities, Jackson said, the company will spend about $50,000 next year for switching equipment in Appleton.

Jackson recently unveiled the program to engineers from several of the 61 company exchanges and toll facilities in the division.

He noted that the growth must be geared to the growth of an area and must be determined economically feasible before the company acts.

"We try to match the growth of an area," he said.

11 State Fatalities

2 Die in Separate Oshkosh Collisions

OSHKOSH — Six-year-old Oshkosh boy and an 18-year-old Oshkosh State University student died in separate automobile accidents Saturday and Sunday.

Their deaths raised Winnebago County's traffic death toll to 22 compared with only 11 on this date last year.

The youth, David L. Andrashko Jr., 646 Broad St., died early Saturday night at Mercy Medical Center after being struck by a car in front of his home. The accident occurred about 7 p.m.

Andrashko sustained a broken neck and fractured skull when hit by a car driven by Robert J. Wonders, 54, 403 Waugoo Ave., Wonders told city police that the boy darted into the street, and he could not stop his car in time to avoid hitting the boy.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. David Andrashko was born June 5, 1963, here, and attended Dale Elementary School.

Hit Street Pole

Dennis R. Duffy, 18, Bettendorf, Iowa, a member of Kappa Delta Gamma fraternity at OSU, died instantly at 12:15 a.m. Sunday when the car he was driving crashed into a steel support for the Morgan Co. overhead tramway on Oregon Street.

Two of the three passengers in Duffy's car were seriously injured. Both are reported in fair condition today at Mercy Medical Center. They are Sue

Burglars Net $395 in Two Break-Ins

Burglars netted about $395 in break-ins at two south side homes Sunday.

Earl McLaughlin, 406 S. Telulah Ave., told police $200 and his wife's $15 watch were missing from his home. Entry was gained through a basement window.

An envelope containing $100 and $75 in change in two small banks were taken from the Kenneth Mahloch home, 415 S. Lee St., after burglars entered the house through a window. Also missing were three bottles of liquor from a bar, and a ring of keys.

Both sustained cuts and possible internal injuries.

The third passenger, Daniel Jukubjak, 25, Milwaukee, sustained cuts and bruises and is reported in satisfactory condition at Mercy.

According to city police, Duffy apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed when he turned onto Oregon from W. Sixth Avenue.

Car Skidded

His car skidded broadside nearly 80 feet before slamming into the steel support.

Coroner Art C. Miller said Duffy suffered a broken neck and internal injuries.

Duffy's body was taken to Seefeld Funeral Home here pending its return to Sioux City, Iowa, for funeral services.

Funeral services for the Andrashko boy are scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Seefeld Funeral Home, with the Rev. James Vahey, pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church here, officiating. Burial will be in Salem Evangelical Cemetery.

Friends may visit at the funeral home today from 4 to 6 p.m.

In addition to his parents, survivors include grandparents, a great-grandmother and great-grandfathers.

Nine Other Deaths

Nine other persons died during the weekend on Wisconsin roads, raising the state's 1969 traffic fatality list to 913 compared with 948 on the same date last year.

Michael Buchanan, 22, Janesville, died Sunday when his car overturned beside a highway near Monroe.

Peter Madison, 21, of Farmington, N.Y., died Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday in a LaCrosse collision.

Three victims died Saturday in a Washburn County collision. They were Evette Johnson, 51, Minneapolis; her mother, Lydia Johnson, and Mrs. Ina Erickson, 68, Bessemer, Mich.

Restocking of Products Doubtful

Grocers Await Further Word on Cyclamates

Anyone using products containing cyclamates (artificial sweetener) doesn't have to rush down to the store to stock up on them today — but they better do it soon because it looks like few grocers or liquor salesmen are going to do any restocking.

In a poll of 30 Fox Valley business places, many managers weren't certain of what they would do with the products, but there didn't appear to be any panic to pull the products off the shelves immediately.

The federal government, acting on new evidence that cyclamates causes cancer in animals, this weekend ordered immediate production halt of all foods and drinks containing the ingredient.

It was stressed, however, by Secretary Robert Finch, of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, that there is no evidence at this point that cyclamates had caused cancer in humans.

"My decision to remove this from the list of approved substances in no sense should be interpreted as a lifesaving or emergency measure," he stressed.

In fact, it was pointed out, one of the studies done with rats shows that the amount fed to the rodents is "50 times the maximum amount previously proposed for adult human consumption."

It appeared to be these particular evidences, which stress that it is not an emergency, that has helped the local businessmen make the decision to wait for further word, although some did admit that they haven't even had time to think about it.

Discussions First

"They pulled this one on us during the weekend and I want to discuss this with my salesmen and other officials involved before I make any decisions," one grocery store manager said.

Others, like Krogers and Sentry chain food stores, are waiting word from the home office.

Knowles Urged to Act as Vote Nears on Tarr's Bill

Assemblymen Return to Capitol Tuesday

KENOSHA (AP) — The president of the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities broadcast an appeal Sunday to Gov. Warren P. Knowles to lead an eleventh-hour campaign against Republican plans to sink the Tarr task force's shared-tax program.

"It appears the bill will be killed unless strong leadership is exerted to save it," Mayor Wallace E. Burkee said in his statement to Knowles. "I call upon you to personally take command of the fight to pass this desperately needed tax-reform measure."

Legislators return Tuesday to the Capitol, where the Republican-controlled Senate has already voted once against the Tarr program, and where the Assembly's Republican majority similarly has rejected a measure that had been drawn up to test legislative sympathy for the bill.

The Tarr program, a result of 18 months of study, is designed to ease local property tax burdens, give most of Wisconsin's municipalities a better share of state tax revenue and reduce discrepancies between municipal tax levels.

Proponents of the bill say most legislative opposition comes from rural lawmakers whom a Milwaukee alderman accused of being ignorant of the measure's benefits.

Burkee, broadcasting his weekly "Mayor's Report," asked Knowles' administration to inform legislators how the bill would affect each lawmaker's district.

"The Alliance of Cities," Burkee said, "is doing everything possible to save the bill."

Burkee and the mayors of Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay and Wausau led a two-week, statewide series of speaking appearances last month in support of the bill.

Knowles, Burkee said, should make an effort to address the legislature Tuesday "to urge passage of the bill."

Burkee said he also is sending a similar plea to Lt. Gov. Jack B. Olson.

Meanwhile, William Beyer, executive secretary of the alliance, said in Milwaukee that telegrams are being sent to mayors and city managers of Wisconsin's 16 largest communities, urging them to pressure legislators in favor of the Tarr formula.

Beyer said several hundred letters were being mailed to other municipal officials—including town chairmen and village presidents—to show them how the bill would benefit their communities.

The campaign, he said, is geared to demonstrating that the Tarr plan would provide more benefit for rural areas than critics have admitted.

The State Department of Revenue expected to begin circulation Tuesday of a new breakdown on the bill's potential benefits.

Burkee and Beyer said 1968 estimates had indicated 70 per cent of the state's municipalities would benefit. New studies show the percentage should be even higher, they said.

Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee has said the new report will show at least 75 per cent of the state's taxpayers would benefit.

Lorge Gives His Reasons For Anti-Tarr-Bill Vote

BEAR CREEK — State Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, today replied to recent criticism from Appleton Mayor George Buckley by clarifying his position on the controversial Tarr Task Force bill to redistribute state aid funds to communities.

He said he voted against the Tarr proposal last week because he believed it should be amended but doubted that there were enough votes to permit amendments if the bill was passed.

In a subsequent vote, Lorge added, he voted in favor of reconsidering the measure.

Lists Objections

This morning, in a telephone interview, he listed his major objections and added, "If some of these things can be ironed out, it is very possible I might vote for the bill."

The Senate reconvenes Tuesday with the Tarr proposal at the top of its agenda.

Buckley had reacted to word that Lorge voted against the bill by saying the senator, who represents Waupaca and Outagamie counties, should remember that more than half his votes come from urban constituents.

Supporters of the Tarr bill say it would benefit urban communities including Appleton by giving them larger shares of tax revenues which the state shares with various local government units.

By voting to reconsider the measure, the Senate allowed time for the State Department of Revenue to prepare up-to-date calculations showing the effects of the proposed changes.

Estimates in Conflict

Lorge said he was pleased that the figures would be available, since he had received estimates from three sources, and all three are in conflict.

Lorge said he wanted to introduce an amendment that would provide that "the tax islands pay some tax." He explained that about 126 Wisconsin communities, mostly towns, are able to operate entirely from the shared taxes from the state, without levying a local property tax.

These towns, he said, should receive reduced shares of state aids.

But he also offered other objections to the Tarr formula, which would allocate the state funds on the basis of $80 per person in each community plus a percentage of local property taxes above a fixed minimum.

Costly Method

Lorge said he believed that basing part of the distribution on population would require a costly method of keeping census figures up to date if current population is to be used. He added that paying on the basis of property tax rates encourages local communities to spend, raising their tax rate and increasing their shares of state aids. The bill, he continued, undermines healthy competition between communities attempting to keep taxes down to attract industry.

Lorge also said he feels that communities that accommodate major utility plants should receive "some compensation" for permitting the utilities to locate there, which often creates problems.

The utilities produce a major share of the tax revenue that would be redistributed under the Tarr formula. At present, the community where the utility installation is located receives most of the revenues.

"No community would want a utility" under the Tarr bill, Lorge predicted.

Oshkosh Boy Still Critical Crawford County Hunter Suffers Fatal Wounds

Robert Scofield, 15-year-old Oshkosh boy who was injured in a hunting accident Saturday, remained in critical condition this morning at Mercy Medical Center.

Scofield sustained a shotgun wound in the head while hunting with five companions Saturday afternoon. He is the son of Mrs. Grace Scofield, 912 School St., Oshkosh.

Juan Lindsay, 50, of Eastman was found dead Saturday in a field near that Crawford County village.

Authorities said Lindsay evidently was wounded when his shotgun discharged as he climbed through a farm fence.

Karl Kline of Superior was hospitalized in good condition Sunday after being wounded while hunting with his son in Douglas County.

Valley Health Session to be Held Tuesday

Representatives of 19 Organizations Will Review COG Study

The future of comprehensive health planning for the Fox Valley probably lies in the laps of a group of businessmen, industrialists and professionals who will meet Tuesday evening to discuss a preliminary regional health study.

The group will be the representatives of 19 organizations which earlier this year funded the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) to delve into the need for comprehensive health planning for the area.

COG completed the preliminary study several weeks ago but the sponsors have not discussed it in-depth. It was presented at a closed breakfast but not discussed in detail.

Local Response

"We want local response and reaction to the report," commented Eugene E. Franchett, COG executive director.

After weeks to analyze it on their own, the sponsors are expected to be ready to take the next step — designating a working committee to go into more detail on establishing a regional health organization which the report recommends.

The 7:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting — the first public session on the health study — will be at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. marketing center, route 2, Neenah.

The initial COG study revealed that health planning was needed because of the vastly complex array of health services ranging from personal health care to environmental health. Further study is expected to bring out priorities in health planning.

Two Charged In Bookstore Ransacking

Criminal complaints were brought this morning against two Appleton men charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the ransacking of a bookstore last Wednesday night.

Named in the complaints brought by police were Leroy Hiemerman, 44, 615 N. Appleton St., and Gerald J. Sheriff, 37, 3514 N. Story St. They were ordered to appear in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday afternoon.

Authorities said two well-dressed men entered the Appleton Book Store, 902 W. Wisconsin Ave., and threw books around and tipped over shelves and racks.

The men then fled in a car that reportedly was parking alongside the store.

Police learned the identity of the two men last Thursday.

The owner of the book store and a clerk are scheduled to stand trial Oct. 27 in Circuit Court on a total of five counts of possessing and selling obscene literature.

Mayor May Ask Full-Time City Planner in 1970 Budget

NEENAH — Funds to hire a full-time city planner will probably be included in the 1970 budget so the city can have the in-house planning capacity to coordinate the first step of the redevelopment plan scheduled for 1970.

Mayor Donald Hassler, reluctant to commit himself on the budget, commented, "We are going to need someone to work with the city and redevelopment authority (Racon) to coordinate the plan."

'Don't be Surprised'

"Don't be surprised if funds for a full-time planner is in the budget," he added.

Hassler has been a strong proponent of a full-time planner. Two efforts earlier this year to get council approval to hire a man were turned down. The first failed when opponents argued that Neenah was not large enough to employ a full-time planner, and the second when aldermen discovered the surplus fund account was running about $30,000 in the red.

But now, with a comprehensive redevelopment plan due in less than two weeks, the need for a planner is increasing.

James Stahlman who is drafting the plan for A. L. Groote-maat and Sons, a Milwaukee planning and development firm, will submit his preliminary draft on Oct. 28.

In April, when the city council found itself operating on a deficit basis, aldermen generally agreed to go along with a plan commission recommendation to hire a full-time planner, but decided to hold off until 1970.

City Development

Racon has also recommended a full-time planner to be incorporated into the city administrative structure through a department of city development.

Arno Haering Jr., Fox Valley Council of Governments regional planning director, proposed the structure. The planner would not only work for Racon, but would take on the responsibility of coordinating the city's entire growth pattern.

Racon members have asked the city to employ a planner to provide the in-house planning capacity to work with potential developers who might be interested in investing some money in the city's redevelopment effort.

Capital Spending Plan

According to the latest seven-year capital expenditures plan, an estimated $8.6 million will be invested in the city's downtown shopping area through redevelopment.

The plan is tentatively scheduled for its first public hearing on Dec. 4 and will go to the city council for a second airing in late January.

In addition to coordination of the redevelopment plan, the full-time planner would be working with all departments in laying out the city's growth patterns and potential, plus acting as a recruiter for new industrial and commercial development in Neenah.

Hassler has fought for a planner on the grounds that it would be a good investment for the city. "I like to think in terms of how much the city will benefit from a planner — rather than how much it will cost."

The mayor has said that a planner would also investigate various federal aid programs to make sure Neenah is getting its fair share.

Nixon Repeats Support of Havnsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. has been subjected to vicious character assassination, and even if the judge asked him to withdraw his nomination to the Supreme Court he would not do so.

He said he had gone over the complete record of the case of the man he tapped for the Supreme Court and all of the criticism and charges that had been raised.

He said he is standing by his judgment that Haynsworth should have the position.

Word of "Fish," a good-neighbor organization of volunteers helping those in need of a service, is being brought to all the homes this weekend by some 700 Boy Scouts. Mapping out the city are, from left, Paul Van Asten, Troop 25; Tim Verheyen, Troop 67, and Joseph Reis, Troop 67. All three boys are working toward their Eagle Scout badges. The cards explaining Fish's services will be distributed by boys from every troop in Appleton. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Listing School Limits To Affect Business Cost

NEENAH-MENASHA — The new state law requiring private schools to define attendance areas will undoubtedly have some effect on transportation procedures, but it is not expected to substantially reduce bus-ing costs.

The law, which goes into effect in January, but which will probably not be put into effect in the Twin City area until September of 1970, according to one school official, asks that parochial and private schools define specific school districts.

This means that a child living in one district will be provided with bus transportation to the parochial school of his religious denomination in the district, whether or not he is currently enrolled in another parochial school.

Thus, a child could be living near one parochial school, but only provided with transportation to another school because of the district boundaries.

No Overlapping

The law states that parochial schools of the same religious denomination cannot overlap their districts.

The Rev. David Kiefer, administrator of St. Mary High School, said the requirement may mean the transferrals of some parochial students. The pupils could still attend a parochial school in another district, but they would have to provide their own transportation.

Father Kiefer said he doesn't yet know the full impact of the law since residences of the students and the schools they attend have not been analyzed.

Also, the school boards of the various Catholic parishes have not met to define attendance areas.

"Once we can delineate where students live, then we can establish some type of boundary line," Father Kiefer said.

Clayton Jackson, business manager of the Menasha Joint School District, said the law would probably not take effect until September, since it would cause confusion and difficulties if some pupils had to transfer during the middle of the school year.

The law could save the district some transportation costs, if a bus or two could be eliminated due to the boundary line requirement, Jackson said.

Currently a state law established in 1968, requires the public school districts to transport the parochial students, who reside in the public school district.

The Menasha district is transporting students to parochial schools in Neenah and Appleton, as well as to schools within its own district.

532 in Neenah

In Neenah, the law will not have much effect on costs. Richard Carlson, director of transportation, said. Currently, the Neenah buses are transporting 532 parochial and private students to schools within the district, and 169 students to schools outside the district.

Most of the students, (about 350) grades kindergarten through eighth attend St. Gabriel school, which already has a defined attendance area, Carlson said. Very few are transported to the Lutheran schools, and a small number of the pupils might have to transfer, due to boundary lines.

Neenah has no secondary Catholic schools, and thus the students would still have to be transported to St. Mary High School in Menasha. Also, Lutheran schools with different synods are figured as separate denominations. A student attending Trinity Lutheran in Menasha, would not be required to attend Trinity Lutheran in Neenah, because one is Wisconsin and the other is Missouri Synod.

The law will affect Catholic schools in Oshkosh to some extent, and could result in some reduction of school transportation costs, although neither the financial nor the service impact of the change have yet been evaluated, Warren J. Rahn, director of research for the Oshkosh public system, said.

Neenah Panel To Consider Richey Appeal

NEENAH — The police and fire commission is expected to decide tonight whether it plans to appeal a circuit court ruling ordering the reinstatement of William Richey to the police department.

Richey was discharged by the commission following an April 23 hearing on charges of "conduct unbecoming a police officer."

Circuit Judge William E. Crane has ruled that the veteran police officer did not receive a fair hearing before the commission.

If the commission decides to appeal Judge Crane's ruling it will be to the Wisconsin Supreme Court. If no appeal is made, the proceedings would be dropped and Richey would be reinstated to his detective sergeant's post.

A decision on the appeal was delayed for a month on Sept. 24 when the commission met in a special closed-door session. At that time, they issued a statement saying a final decision would be made tonight at its regular meeting.

Charges against Richey were brought by Chief Lawrence Malouf.

Tavern License Guidelines Eyed

MENASHA — The health and welfare committee will begin the task of writing guidelines for granting licenses to city taverns at their 4:30 p.m. meeting today.

They will also consider a request for a tavern license from Edith May Lux. The request will be for the last tavern license the city is allowed to issue under state law, which allows the issuance of one license for every 500 persons.

Under that formula, the city is allowed to issue 32. It has already issued 31.

Police Calls

Health and welfare committee chairman Ronald Scheurle, Sixth Ward, said he has asked Police Chief Lester Clark to come in with figures showing the number of police calls to taverns in the city over the past three years, comparing them with the number of calls to other commercial establishments that do not require a city license to operate.

He said he would also like to know the approximate enforcement costs for the police department that tavern calls create.

"I'm going to wait for these figures before I suggest any guidelines," Scheurle said.

Tavern Guidelines

The search for tavern license guidelines began in earnest after Scheurle told the common council on Oct. 7 that his committee will try and come up with guidelines.

"It's going to be hard to come up with any guidelines," Scheurle said last week, adding that differences of opinions among the aldermen on his own committee may make it difficult to agree on recommendations to the council.

Scheurle told the council that guidelines are necessary because his committee doesn't "know which way to go anymore" in granting licenses.

Combination License

The comment came after his committee voted down a request for a combination license from Beverly Jane Bay.

The council subsequently approved the license request, but Scheurle said standards would be needed in the future. Some other aldermen agreed.

Scheurle said he didn't "understand what we (the city) are trying to achieve" in granting or not granting specific licenses.

Federal Expenditures Hit Huge Total for Counties in Fox Valley

Special to The Post-Crescent

NEW YORK — What portion of federal government spending, which now totals about $190 billion a year, is borne by Outagamie County taxpayers? What portion by those in Calumet, Waupaca and Winnebago Counties?

How much does it cost local residents, through income taxes and other taxes, to meet their share of the spending for national defense, education, interest on the national debt, space research and the gamut of other programs?

The $190 billion total is too vast to be meaningful to most people. It became somewhat more comprehensible, however, when it is shown that it amounts to $6,000 per second.

The calculation was made by William V. Roth Jr., a Delaware congressman, who has been concerned over the rising cost of government.

$293,000 Per Day

Outagamie County's share of imaginative "approaches in this spending is estimated at $254 per day for every local taxpayer. For the local population as a whole, it adds up to $293,000 per day.

That is based upon the proportion of its revenue that the government receives from the local area.

The part of the expenditures attributed to each community was determined from a state-by-state study made by the Tax Foundation and from local income data.

The portion shouldered by Outagamie County residents, per capita, is greater than in many localities across the country where earnings, and therefore taxes paid, are lower.

Valley Counties

In Calumet County it is estimated that the daily cost per person is $2.24 and the total cost per day is $54,000.

Waupaca County shows $2.19 daily cost per capita and a total daily cost of $74,000.

The cost per day for each individual in Winnebago County is estimated at $2.61, with a total cost of $313,000.

Congressman Roth's concern over the nation's huge annual budget has led him to propose that a "modern Hoover-type" commission be set up to find out how the central government can operate more effectively, efficiently and creatively.

Spending Break Down

He called for "daring and imaginative" approaches in using the resources of government to mount attacks on the problems confronting the American people.

Just how the government spends the taxpayer's money in the past fiscal year is shown in the Tax Foundation study.

Out of every $1,000 in taxes paid by Outagamie, Calumet, Waupaca and Winnebago residents, for example, $440 went for national defense, $261 for health and welfare, $71 for interest on the national debt and

Menominee Should Retain County Status

Study Committee Opposed to Return To Indian Community

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Menominee County should be continued as the state's newest county and not returned to any form of Indian community, the Menominee Indian Study Committee has tentatively agreed.

In recommendations and conclusions to be affirmed today, the Legislative and citizens' study committee has proposed that the decade-old county be continued by the state.

There is sufficient economic base to support the continued operation of the sparsely populated area if developments continue as projected for the county, according to the report.

Legislation Must Act

The conclusions are being prepared for the 1969 Legislature which must act if county status is to be withdrawn from the former reservation. The county was created in 1959 with the condition that the prospects for the county be reviewed by the 1969 Legislature.

The committee, under the chairmanship of State Sen. Reuben La Fave, R, Oconto, is making the study.

The conclusions indicate that the continued economic growth of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., including the Lakes of the Menomines, visitors destination center recreational projects and government appropriations for the preservation of the Wolf River provide a sufficient foundation for tax base so that the county can subsist.

Conditions Listed

Essential conditions for further development include the sale of those recreational lands and the financing by the federal government for Wolf River land preservation projects as well as industrial growth, the committee agreed.

Until the money is provided by Congress the state should continue emergency state leasing of Wolf River bank lands, the committee added.

And if necessary, further expansion of sustained yield forest cuts reduced in 1966 should be considered, according to the committee report.

Make Bracelet, Necklace Out of Acorns and Beads

BY CAPPY DICK
A handsome necklace can be made from acorns and beads by following today's fun-project directions. A bracelet also can be made.
Find acorns of a size you consider suitable. They should have their caps on them, as in figure 1. Assemble some colored beads, too.
Pierce each acorn from side to side (figure 2), first with a darning needle, then with a thin cracking the acorn shell. Enlarge the hole by gently pushing the thin nail through it. Be careful as you work or you may cause the cap to drop off the acorn.
Prepare enough acorns to make a necklace and a bracelet.
The third step is to string the acorns on heavy cord or colored yarn (use the darning needle), alternating with several beads as in figure 3.
When these things have been done you will end up with an attractive necklace and bracelet.
Tomorrow: A game played with dry beans and paper cups!

Used Horn to Try Another Approach

Ram TD at the End of First Half Hurt Packers Most, Phil Bengtson Indicates

LOS ANGELES — Phil Bengtson tried to hide his disappointment, but it wasn't easy. "We were in terrible position all the time," the Packers' head man said, shaking his head somberly as he analyzed the Bays' 34-21 loss to the Rams here Sunday afternoon, a misstep which toppled them from a share of the National Football League's Central Division lead. "We were still all right until they scored right at the end of the first half, though," he pointed. "We gave them a touchdown (Roman Gabriel's 51-yard 'bomb' to Les Josephson in the first quarter) but even after they scored those field goals, we still weren't in bad shape until they scored that one. "We figured they'd be satisfied with a field goal, with time running out, but they went for the touchdown. That brought back another unhappy memory. "We had 'em stopped down there earlier in the second quarter, when they got their second touchdown, Bengtson noted. "They fumbled and we recovered in the end zone, but we got offside penalty and they scored." "Another Approach" Asked why Don Horn had replaced Bart Starr at quarterback at the start of the fourth quarter, Phil matter-of-factly replied, "Bart had been getting some pretty rough treatment...and we also thought we would try another approach." Bucks Sell Williams to Los Angeles

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Bucks sold guard Sam Williams to the Los Angeles Lakers, General Manager John Erickson said Sunday. "It was a straight cash deal," Erickson said. A former Iowa All-Big Ten player, Williams saw spot play last season, averaging 4.1 points in 55 games. He sat out the Bucks' season opener Saturday against Detroit. "Los Angeles has been after Sam for a long time," Erickson said. "We hated to give him up, but he wouldn't have seen much action with us and we needed a spot on the squad for Bob Greacen's return." Greacen, Milwaukee's second-round draft choice and a forward, is on the injured list, but will have to be activated shortly. Williams' departure leaves the Bucks with 11 players, one under the National Basketball Association limit.

Low Hits 19, Fouls Out

Bucks Rout Sonics, 130-106

By BOB GREENE MILWAUKEE (AP)—Low Alcindor says he's learning something new every night, but he hasn't forgotten how to win. The 7-foot-2 former UCLA three-time All-American led the Milwaukee Bucks to a 130-106 shell of the Seattle Super-sonics Sunday night in the only National Basketball Association game on tap. The Bucks also won Saturday afternoon, 119-110, over the Detroit Pistons in their season opener. Against Seattle, Alcindor grabbed 11 rebounds, handed out five assists, blocked an equal number of Seattle shots and scored 19 points before fouling out with 5:47 remaining in the game. "I think it's coming along," the elongated rookie said of his play. "I still have a lot of things to learn, however, especially the little things like when to switch (on defense)." The main firing power in the Milwaukee arsenal — Alcindor and guards Flynn Robinson and Jon McGlocklin — shot the Bucks out to a 13-6 advantage to start the game. A 14-2 burst by Milwaukee turned the game into a rout.

Tucker Set Up for TD

By Gabriel

LOS ANGELES — In the exuberant Ram dressing room, Roman Gabriel was describing how he had set up the Angelenos' biggest touchdown in the closing seconds of the first half.

"I ran Wendell Tucker to the corner the first time and I noticed he was open on the slant on the play," he said. "So I went to him on the slant for the touchdown on the next play."

Across the room, ex-Packer Ken Iman was quietly reveling in the afternoon's success.

"We had to be ready," said the Rams' youthful center, still

Saturday afternoon, making his regular season NBA debut. Alcindor scored 29 points, hauled in 12 rebounds and blocked three shots against the Pistons. Yet he was dissatisfied with his play.

"I am still adjusting" to NBA play, he said. "I have to find out what is a foul and what isn't."

Milwaukee started off its maiden season last year by losing its first five games. By the time the Bucks had won their second game, they were 2-6.

With Alcindor, Milwaukee is 2-0 and has out-rebounded its opponents 128-84.

A man on the spot, Alcindor still is relaxed. When asked what difference he found between college and the pros, he said: "This plays a lot better."

Gabriel, LA Defense Too Much for Bays

Packers Surrender Most Points Since 1961 in 34-21 Setback at LA

BY LEE REMMEL Post-Crescent News Service LOS ANGELES — Gabriel, the Packers' unhappy discoverer here Sunday afternoon, is no angel. Not, at least, the one who answers to the name of Roman. Stunned by a 20-0 getaway, the Packers had come off the floor in the second quarter to jar the Angelenos with a pair of quick touchdowns and vault back into contention. They no sooner had accomplished this delightful parlay, via Travis Williams' dazzling 88-yard kickoff return and 5 and 21-yard Bart Starr pitches to Boyd Dowler and Elijah Pitts, then the resourceful Gabriel turned budding optimism into creeping concern. Racing the clock, he engineered a 71-yard scoring march, capping it with an 11-yard strike to flanker Wendell Tucker in the heart of the end zone with only six seconds remaining in the first half to set 78,947 Coliseum fans agog. That, together with Bruce Gossett's conversion, shot the Rams into a 27-14 intermission lead, a bulge they ultimately converted into a 34-27 victory. It left them with a spotless 5-0 record in the National Football League's Coastal Division and dropped the Packers one game behind the Vikings, 27-10 conquerers of St. Louis, in the Central. Most Since 1961 Those 34 points were the most scored against the Packers since 1961, when they were victimized by the Baltimore Colts, 45-21. The strapping Gabriel, who broke the Rams' career completion record along the way, sealed the Packers' fate when he maneuvered the Rams 52 yards to a final touchdown at the start of the third quarter — with the aid of three personal foul penalties on the Pack. These were not, unfortunately, the Packers' only contributions, reluctant as they may have been, to the Californian's cause. The Rams gratefully translated three second-quarter fumbles into 13 points, after frisking the Pack's customarily tightfisted defense for first quarter TD on a 51-yard Gabriel collaboration with Les Josephson. Just as in their Minnesota disappointment two weeks ago, these misadventures proved a monumental handicap, forcing the Bays to hastily review their game plan and permitting the Rams' potent front four to rush with abandon. As an inevitable result, Starr and his fourth quarter successor, Don Horn, were felled six times between them for a total of 60 yards and under heavy siege on a number of other occasions. Hampton Scores Horn inserted at the start of the final period, was able to weather the charge long enough to forge a 59-yard drive to a consolation touchdown at the 8:02 mark, Dave Hampton sweeping right end from the 3 after shrugging Clancy Williams at the line of scrimmage. Conversely, the Packers' inability to exert consistent pressure upon Gabriel enhanced the Rams' passing game no little. The 6-foot 4-inch, 22-pound field general, who now hasn't been intercepted in 185 passing attempts over two seasons, was trapped but twice for 14 yards in completing 17 of 28 for 197 yards. Josephson and Larry Smith, a burly rookie, complemented Gabriel's artistic arm with a surprisingly strong running game, a massing 109 yards of LA's 121 ground yards between them as the Rams emerged with an overall net of 312. The Packers, meanwhile, were forced to settle for their second sub-200 yard production of the season. Their problems were complicated, it must be admitted, by injuries to halfback Travis Wil-

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tall Coach Bud Grant wasn't willing to label his burly Minnesota Vikings the best in club history but admitted they'll be tough to derail in the National Football League. "I've only been with this club three years, so I really can't say whether it's the best Minnesota's ever had," the Viking boss said after Sunday's 27-10 victory over St. Louis. "It's the best I've had. We've improved all over, but the improvement is with the same people. It's come with experience." Minnesota's triumph, its fourth in a row following a 24-23

Fires Final-Round 65; Frank Beard Finishes Second

By BOB GREEN LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — It's bad news for golf's touring pros: Big Jack—the real Jack Nicklaus — is back, once again flashing the awesome form that made him the most feared competitor in the game. "I guess you'd have to go back to Baltusrol" where he won the U.S. Open in 1967 "to find a tournament where I've played so well," the Ohio strongman said Sunday after romping in with an easy victory in the $100,000 Sahara Invitational. Nicklaus, who notched his 30th career victory before his 30th birthday, closed with a brilliant 65, six under par on the 6,751 yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, for a 272 total, 12 under par. Beard Has 276 He had a four-stroke margin over Frank Beard, the third-round leader, who finished with a 70 for 276. Dave Hill, 69, and Dale Douglass, 66, tied for third at 277 with Grier Jones, 68, and British Open champion Tony Jacklin, 69, next at 278. But while it was business as usual for Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer had his troubles. The 40-year-old charger, attempting a comeback after a two-month absence forced by a hip ailment, closed with a disappointing 74 for 290. Turn to Page 8, Col. 1 Turn to Page 9, Col. 2

We're Better Team Than Last Season, Claims Rams' Allen

LOS ANGELES — Ram Coach George Allen, holding forth behind a microphone for a mass of newsmen, was direct and positive.

"Why were we able to beat the Packers more decisively than we did last year?" he echoed. "We're a better team than we were last year."

"I think the big difference is that this team is better than our '67 team, which was our best team," said Allen, whose moustachios had just won their fifth straight, 34-21, at Green Bay's expense.

By "our best team," of course, Allen meant it was the best Ram team since he became LA's head coach in 1966.

"But," he added by way of caution, "five games do not make a season."

Early 20-0 Lead

The Rams' first touchdown, which sent them on the way to an early 20-0 lead, had come on a play action pass, Allen said in conceding that quarterback Roman Gabriel had used this weapon effectively.

"But they hurt us with play action passes, too," he pointed out. "Both of the Packers' touchdowns in the second quarter came on play action."

This moved him to note, "I think Bart Starr is the best in the business at play action. He has poise and sticks in there — he's a game competitor.

"By the way, he congratulated me on the way off the field. He said we had a sounder football team ... that takes quite a man."

Not Considered

Allen said he had not considered going for a field goal on the play which produced the Rams' eventual winning touchdown in the closing seconds of the first half.

"We thought we could throw one more pass and still have time for a field goal," he informed. "We thought Gabe could throw an incompletion in two seconds and there were nine seconds left ... originally, I didn't think we'd have time."

The Rams' 34 points had been the most scored against the Packers since 1961, one scribe noted.

Allen smiled appreciatively and replied, "I wouldn't be surprised."

It's a Big Win

This apparently re-impressed him with what his athletes had just accomplished and he continued, "It's a big win, gentlemen. There's nothing like winning. Whatever second place is I don't know what it is."

Returning to his analysis, he observed, "Penalties took a little edge off the game. With two experienced teams like the Packers and Rams, you don't expect that sort of thing. This usually happens when you have younger players, who are more inclined to be emotional."

Paying tribute to the enemy, Allen volunteered, "I thought the Pack came back very well after we got 'em down 20-0."

He then summed up the secret of his Rams' success this sunny Sabbath.

"We were emotional today," he said, "and that's the way you have to be."

third quarter because of hazy vision, and tackle Francis Peay, who suffered a broken hand in the first quarter which kept him out of action for a time and hampered his efforts thereafter.

A hint of what lay ahead came the second time the Rams acquired possession when Josephson, starkly alone, ran under a Gabriel pass at the Packers 20 and cantered into the liams, who had to leave in the end zone as a desperate Willie Wood, zeroing in from the far side of the field, fastened his arms around the runaway Rams' ankles.

Things then began to deteriorate rapidly at the start of the second quarter. Ironically enough, in the wake of the Packers' best offensive effort to that point.

Pardee Recovers

Hit by Dave Jones just before the first period ended, Starr fumbled and Jack Pardee recovered at the Green Bay 47. Five plays later, Gossett kicked the first of two field goals from the 24.

Calamity struck again just two plays later when Starr fumbled as Diron Talbert jolted him and Jones recovered at the Green Bay 3-yard line. A stout goal line stand appeared to be rewarded when Lionel Aldridge recovered a Smith fumble in the end zone on third down, but the Packers were adjudged offside and Gabriel sneaked in from the one on the next play.

Despite these staggering misfortunes, the Packers refused to concede. They displayed their mettle when Travis Williams, gathering in Gossett's kickoff at the 7, charged up the middle and, after appearing momentarily stopped near midfield, burst into the open.

He outran two Ram defenders but was unable to avoid Ron Smith, who had a sharp angle on him, and ran the "Road Runner" out of bounds at the Los Angeles 5.

It took Starr only one play to capitalize on this electrifying development. He rifled a strike to Dowler, slanting into the middle of the end zone from the left of Smith and the Packers were on the board.

The defense forced a punt and the Pack struck again, this time with slightly less dispatch. Starr, aided by an interference penalty, had the Green and Gold

Mann Kicks 2 Field Goals

Lions Keep Bears Winless

DETROIT (AP) — Quarterback Greg Landry, starting his first game of the year and only the third in two seasons, fired a 12-yard touchdown pass to Johnny Wright and Errol Mann kicked a pair of field goals to give the Detroit Lions a 13-7 National Football League victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday.

It was Chicago's fifth straight loss of the season, while the Lions moved to a 3-2 mark.

The Detroit touchdown came only three plays after rookie Bear quarterback Bobby Douglass, playing in his first game, threw a 32-yard touchdown pass to Bob Wallace, who made a leaping catch in a corner of the end zone.

On the ensuing kickoff, Detroit's Bobby Williams, playing in place of the injured Lem Barney, took the ball at the Lions' goal line and returned it 26 yards to the Chicago 14 to set up the Detroit TD.

Hangs on For TD

After two running plays got only two yards, Landry, playing for the injured Bill Munson, found second-year receiver Wright alone in the center of the end zone. The ball bounced off his chest but Wright hung on.

The Lions suffered a severe blow late in the first quarter when halfback Mel Farr, the NFL's fourth leading rusher, was racked up. A later report said he apparently suffered a ligament injury to his right knee.

Farr Expected To Miss Rest Of Season

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions halfback Mel Farr, the National Football League's fourth leading rusher going into Sunday's play, will be lost for the season after suffering a knee injury in Detroit's 13-7 win over the Chicago Bears.

Farr was injured early in the first quarter and a Lions spokesman said he apparently tore ligaments in his right knee. He was scheduled to have surgery today.

He was replaced by rookie Larry Watkins, who gained 51 yards in 14 carries.

Mann's first field goal was a able recovery by Wayne Walker 20-yarder that followed a 70-yard Lion drive in the third period which ate up 9½ minutes of the quarter. Then with only 5½ minutes left in the game, Mann booted a 46-yard field goal which came after a Lion drive that followed an important fumble.

5 Touchdown Passes Morton Leads Dallas Past Eagles, 49-14

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — His longest throw in practice had been 15 yards. He was stiff and in pain.

So what did Dallas quarterback Craig Morton do Sunday? Sore-shoulder and all, the calm Californian bombed Philadelphia with five touchdown passes in the first half in a 49-14 National Football League rout.

"My shoulder was very stiff at the start of the game and it hurt some as we went along... but not really seriously," Morton said.

Coach Tom Landry said "Craig was spectacular. He really didn't throw all week, but he came out great today."

Rushed into Action

Landry had been so concerned about Morton's condition that he had announced before the game that rookie Roger Staubach would be rushed into action if it appeared that Morton was the slightest bit rusty.

Staubach got into the game all right. But not until Morton had thrown touchdown shots of 8, 16, and 15 yards to Lance Rentzel; 67-yards to Bob Hayes; and 31-yards to Pettis Norman. Morton hit 13 of 19 passes for 247 yards.

The NFL's No. 1 passer was pulled out of the game by Landry with 6:56 remaining in the third period. Dallas remains undefeated in the Capitol Division with a 5-0 record. The Eagles are 1-4.

Morton said "The Eagles were very effective last week against Baltimore. We expected they would be trying some of the same formations against us. Sure enough, they came with a blitzing defense, but we jarred them out of it when we happened to hit on the right plays."

Halftime Lead

Dallas built up a 42-7 halftime lead and was ahead 23-7 after the first quarter.

Morton tied a club record with 10 completions in a row and the five TD tosses. Rentzel also tied a club mark with the three scoring receptions.

Hayes, playing for the first time in six weeks after being out with a shoulder separation, and Rentzel gave the Eagle secondary fits.

Irv Cross, Philadelphia defensive back, said "Dallas has terrific balance with Hayes and Rentzel. I tip my hat to a great team."

Defensive tackle Bob Lilly scored his third NFL touchdown for the Cowboys when he picked up a Norm Snead fumble and stumbled nine-yards for the score.

Lilly laughed about his reaction when he saw the ball on the ground.

Sitting There

"When I approached the ball I was doing a 9.4 40," he said. "The ball was just sitting there. It sat there about an hour. Line-men usually don't get a chance like that."

Leroy Keyes, the touted Eagle rookie who was moved to defense, said "I noticed the Raymond Berry (Dallas receiver coach) influence on the receivers. Rentzel gave me that little fake and got a step on me and Morton would put it right there. It killed us."

Eagle coach Jerry Williams said "Dallas is a great ball club. They just whipped the dickens out of us. We played a little better football in the second half...and then they didn't have Morton in there."

Lamonica Hurls 6 TD Passes

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Daryle Lamonica, pilot of Oakland's Magnificent Flying Machine, pulled the trigger Sunday... and it was bombs away on Buffalo.

The sharp-shooting quarterback fired six touchdown passes in the first half as the Western Division-leading Raiders buried the Bills, 50-21, in the American Football League.

Lamonica's six scoring strikes left him one short of the AFL record, but it didn't bother him. "I don't think about things like that," he said. "When I'm out there, I'm in a world of my own—and the only thing I think about is winning."

"I've got a few more years and I'll have a chance for seven some other time."

SPTS

George Blanda, Lamonica's backup man, set the AFL record in 1961 with Houston. Blanda Has Record
In other AFL action Sunday, Kansas City kept right behind Oakland in the wild west race by beating Miami, 17-10; Denver clipped rookie-studded Cincinnati 30-23, and San Diego pulled out a 13-10 victory over winless Boston. Houston and New York, co-leaders in the East, clash tonight in New York.

Before being holstered for re-placement Blanda in the fourth period, Lamonica completed 21

The powerful, golden-haired Nicklaus hadn't won since the San Diego Open early this year and has been on a diet for the last three weeks, dropping 15 pounds from his usual playing weight of 210.

Jack trailed Beard by one stroke going into the final round, but caught him on the first hole, chipping within six feet and canning the putt.

He went ahead to stay with consecutive birds on the fifth and sixth, putting a wedge 18 inches from the pin on one and running in a 25-foot putt on another.

He also birdied the eighth from 10 feet, and picked up two more on the backside. He did not have a bogey.

of 36 passes for 313 yards and one interception. He went to work early and, with the help of four Buffalo fumbles and an intercepted pass, kept the heat on the Bills during the first half.

Lamonica unfurled scoring passes of 10 and one yards to Pete Banaszak, 16 and 25 yards to Fred Biletnikoff, a 53-yard bomb to Billy Cannon, and a 13-yarder to Warren Wells.

Why did Raider Coach John Madden take out Lamonica with a chance for the record?

Chance of Injury
"I would never take a chance of an injury to my starting quarterback with a 40-point lead, just for the sake of a record," said Madden. "That would be the worst thing imaginable."

Kansas City barged into a 17-10 halftime lead on two touchdowns and a field goal, then held off Miami's second half efforts to take the battling Dolphins.

"We're scaring the daylight out of people," said Dolphin Coach George Wilson, whose team has lost five close ones and tied Oakland this year.

Floyd Little chalked up a Denver club record of 165 yards rushing as the Broncos bounced the Bengals. He snapped his own mark of 146, set last year against Boston.

John Hadi burst through Boston and a six-yard touchdown run to lead San Diego over the Patriots.

UW-GB Rally Downs Bombers

GREEN BAY — The University of Wisconsin-Green Bay soccer team rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the first quarter to defeat the Fox Valley Bombers, 4-2, Saturday.

The Bombers took an early lead on a pair of goals by Aldo Santana, but the Bay Badgers came back behind their own two-goal performer, Fred Gustin.

While the Bombers were playing an exhibition, the Milwaukee Kickers clinched the title in the Green Section of the First Division of the Wisconsin Soccer Association by topping the Bavarian Youngmen, 3-1.

The Kickers now have a 12-0-2 record, while the Youngmen are even at 7-7. Fox Valley remains in second place with its 10-3-1 mark.

Packers' Dale Robbed in LA

LOS ANGELES — Packer flanker Carroll Dale had an unhappy "homecoming" here Saturday.

Dale, who spent five years with the Rams before coming to the Packers in the 1965 trade, reported his 1967 championship ring apparently was stolen from the Packer dressing room while he and his teammates practiced at Los Angeles City College in front of his locker when he Saturday morning. The ring, in addition to being of great personal significance to the 30-year old veteran, is valued at between $1,750 and $2,000, he said. Also taken was Dale's wallet, containing his driver's license and credit cards and $34 in cash. The valuables were left in a small zippered bag on the bench

After a check indicated his bag had not been misplaced, Dale resigned himself to the loss. "It's gone," he said philosophically. "I'm just going to forget about it and start thinking about the Rams."

Williams' Eye Closed Really Wasn't in Act Of Throwing Ball, Says Bart Starr of Fumble

Post-Crescent News Service

LOS ANGELES — "I wish I could say," Bart Starr offered with a faint smile, that I was in the act of throwing, but I really wasn't."

Mr. Quarterback was discussing the first of two fumbles which, in combination, blossomed into 10 points for the Rams en route to a 34-21 victory over the Packers here Sunday afternoon.

"I was just stepping up to throw the ball," he said. "I had it right here (he indicated a point just below shoulder high) and Dave Jones just knocked it out of my hand as he went by."

"On the second one, I got hit from behind. I had the ball out in front of me and I was trying to gather it in, and I lost it."

Called for Offside
"That one was disastrous. That, of course, was the time we stopped 'em and recovered a fumble in the end zone, but then were called for offside on the play."

Attempting to evaluate the rush he faced from Jones, Merlin Olsen, et al, in comparison to that encountered against the Vikings two weeks earlier, Starr said, "It's difficult to compare them. The similarity is that once you get behind, they can rush you much more recklessly."

"Until that happened," he added, "I felt we held our own. But there's no question, they exert a lot of pressure—they do a great job."

Dave Hampton, whose second quarter "fumble" was converted to Bruce Gossett's second field goal, said he couldn't remember whether the ball had been stolen from him by the Rams' Dirion Talbert.

"I really don't know what happened," he said sadly.

Travis Williams, his left eye completely closed, was equally morose. The Road Runner, obviously still having trouble focusing, explained, "I fought a hand somewhere in the third quarter and I couldn't see after that."

Williams, sat out the balance of the afternoon wistfully appended, "We were coming back there in the second quarter, but we just couldn't pull it out... I wish I could have gotten back in there."

Willie Wood, the only man who came within hailing distance of the Rams' Les Josephson as he churned goal-ward after taking a first quarter pass from Roman Gabriel, informed, "It was a play-action pass and the linebackers were in tight."

Wood, who ranged from the opposite side of the field to pursue the footloose Ram, said unhappily, "I managed to get a hand on him at the goal line, but it was too late then, he was in."

Elijah Pitts, whose second quarter touchdown whittled the Rams' lead to 20-14 and spawned hopes of a come-from-behind victory, couldn't recall precisely what he had done after gathering in Starr's pass at the 7-yard line.

"All I remember is that I saw the goal line," he said with a smile, "and I said to myself, I'd better get it in there now so we won't have to line up against those big monsters again."

Howe Scores 800th Goal of NHL Career

The 41-year-old Howe, now in his 23rd National Hockey League season, scored his 800th goal, counting regular season and playoff games, Sunday night and helped the Detroit Red Wings beat the St. Louis Blues 4-2.

Unitas Hits 16 Straight Completions

Sets NFL Record In 30-10 Victory Over New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — He's getting old—as quarterbacks go—and he's got aches and pains. But you probably couldn't get the New Orleans Saints to admit that Baltimore's Johnny Unitas is far from the form that made him one of football's all-time greats.

The 36-year-old Unitas played all but the last couple of minutes Sunday and connected on 20 of 28 passes for 319 yards and three touchdowns in the Colts' 30-10 triumph. He was putting 'em right where his receivers were and no defense can do much about that.

Unitas set a National Football League record with 16 straight pass completions, breaking the one-game record of 13 set by Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota against Los Angeles on Dec. 3, 1961.

Moved Offense

The crowd of 80,636, including Vice President Agnew who is an ardent Colts' fan, must have marveled at the way Unitas moved the Baltimore offense.

He got the Colts on the scoreboard with a 15-yard toss to wide receiver Willie Richardson in the first quarter and combined with Tom Mitchell on a five-yard shot later in the period.

The last Unitas TD loss was a thing of beauty. Unitas rarely passes from any position other than a straight drop back into the pocket. But, in the fourth quarter and with the Colts comfortably ahead, he rolled out to the right and rifled one to Ray Perkins in a 47-yard scoring play.

Somewhere in between, the Colts also scored on Tom Matte's three-yard run and Lou Michael's 33-yard field goal.

Praises Unitas

Saints quarterback Bill Kilmer didn't have a bad day, hitting on 20 of 35 for 219 yards. His passing set up Tom Barrington's five-yard touchdown scoot in the third period while Tom Dempsey hung up the other Saints' points with a 33-yard field goal.

Saints coach Tom Fears wasn't a bit reluctant to praise the Unitas performance.

"He was beautiful out there today," the Saints coach said. "Johnny looked better than he has on any of the film we've seen of him this year. But I don't know whether you could call it his best game. He's had some pretty good ones in the past."

The victory raised the Colts' season mark to 3-2 in the NFL's Coastal Division. The defeat left the Saints in the league's Capital Division basement with a 0-5 mark.

goalie Jacques Plante in favor of an extra skater in a bid for a tie. But Howe spoiled the strategy by stealing the puck and scoring into an empty net.

In other NHL games Sunday, Philadelphia tied Montreal 1-1, New York edged Toronto 1-0, Minnesota topped Chicago 4-1 and Boston bashed Pittsburgh 4-0.

Detroit built a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Pete Stelmowski and Gary Bergman. Bill McCreary tallied for St. Louis in the first period, and Roy Anderson tied it for the Blues in the third. Then Nick Libett scored the winning on a power play.

20-Foot Shot

Jean-Guy Gendron's 20-foot shot with 1:01 left in the game got Philadelphia its tie with Montreal. The Canadiens had taken a 1-0 lead on Marc Tardif's goal at 8:45 of the third period.

Vic Hadfield scored on a power play at 7:33 of the first period and goalie Ed Giacomin made it stand up for New York's victory over Toronto.

Minnesota sent winless Chicago to its fifth straight defeat on two goals by Danny Grant and one apiece by Bill Collins and Bill Goldsworthy. Eric Nesterenko scored for Chicago.

Gerry Cheepers notched his second shutout in two starts in Boston's victory over Pittsburgh. Fred Stanfield scored for Boston in the first period and Wayne Cashman, Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito connected in the third.

Falcons Down 49ers for 2nd Time, 21 to 7

Rookie Defensive Back Turns Fumble Into 74-Yard TD

By JIM CHURCH
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie safety Jim Weatherford returned a fumble recovery 74 yards for a touchdown and was a defensive standout Sunday in leading the Atlanta Falcons to a 21-7 victory over the winless San Francisco 49ers.

Weatherford, from Tennessee, also recovered another fumble and intercepted a John Brodie pass as the Falcons for the first time defeated a team twice in a row in their 47-game National Football League history.

The Falcons, now 2-3, defeated San Francisco, 0-4-1, earlier this season 24-12.

Took 7-0 Lead

After Jim Butler smashed four yards to give Atlanta a 7-0 lead, Weatherford picked up a fumble following a 30-yard pass to Clifton McNeil and ran up the sideline for the TD.

Most of the 49ers thought the play had been whistled dead. Falcon cornerback John Malory prevented a second quarter 49er score by recovering Ken Willard's fumble on the Atlanta 4.

But three plays later 49er linebacker Dave Wilcox shook quarterback Randy Johnson loose from the ball, and Roland Lakes recovered and rolled two yards into the end zone for San Francisco's only score of the game.

From there on it was a defensive battle, until 4:09 to go in the final quarter when rookie quarterback Bruce Lemmerman — activated only last week — threw 20 yards to Gail Cogdill for a touchdown.

Harris' Punt Return Decisive

Redskins Stun Giants, 20-14

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rickie Harris returned a punt 86 yards for a touchdown, then the Washington defense stopped New York for three downs on the three Sunday as the Redskins took a come-from-behind 20-14 victory in a National Football League game.

After the Harris punt return, quarterback Fran Tarkenton moved the giants from their own 32 to the Redskins 9 in nine plays. Running back Joe Morrison took the ball to the three. The Redskins defense dug in to stop John Fuqua for no gain on a plunge up the middle. On the third down, a scrambling Tarkenton overthrew a heavily guarded Freeman White in the end zone.

Tarkenton's receivers were covered on fourth down, so the New York quarterback ran the ball but was stopped by Washington's middle linebacker Sam Huff to end the drive with 3:52 left in the game.

The Redskins, now with a record of three victories, one loss and one tie, had to come from behind to score three touchdowns in the second half to defeat the Giants, now 3-2.

Al Unser Triumphs
Over Andretti in 200-Mile Event

By BLOYS BRITT
Bobby Isaac is winning the battles in auto racing but already has lost the war, while Mario Andretti has won his war but is losing the battles.

New Zealander Denis Hulme continued to pad his bank roll as one of the world's most versatile drivers, while 30-year-old Al Unser and 46-year-old Buck Baker added new trophies to illustrious careers during a busy weekend of auto races.

Isaac 32-year-old driver for the Dodge team on NASCAR's rich Grand National circuit, won his second race in as many days and his 15th of the season in a 100-mile at Augusta, Ga., Sunday.

The veteran short track star from Catawba, N. C., boosted his earnings to $60,850 for the season, but already has lost NASCAR's lucrative driving title to either Dave Pearson or Richard Petty, who are battling to the wire for the championship.

63-Second Win
Unser, youngest of two driving brothers from Albuquerque, N. Mex., dashed home 63 seconds ahead of Andretti to win the inaugural Dan Gurney 200-mile race for Indianapolis-type cars at Seattle.

Andretti already has won the U.S. Auto Club driving title.

Petty and Pearson, both Ford team drivers, finished second and third, respectively, at Augusta, Ga., with Ford's Lee Roy Yarbrough coming in fourth. It was the same order of finish that occurred in a 100-mile at Savannah, Ga., on Friday night.

Hulme, locked in a close battle with Bruce McLaren for the individual title in the $1 million Canadian - American Challenge Cup series, won the Grand Prix of Mexico Sunday to end the Formula 6 season.

Baker, one of the oldest drivers still active, won a 100-mile dirt track event for NASCAR Grand Touring sedans at Raleigh, N. C., Saturday—after a heated duel with 41-year-old Jim Paschal. It was Baker's first victory of the season.

Toomey Off
To Slow Start

Attempting to Break World
Decathlon Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Olympian Bill Toomey got off to a slow start Sunday in his attempt to capture the world decathlon record.

After the first five events—the 100 meters, 400 meters, long jump, high jump and shot put—Toomey had compiled 4,313 points, 42 fewer than his first-day total of two weeks ago when he missed the world record by only 42 points.

Toomey is competing with Bill Smith of San Francisco, Dave Thoreson of Santa Barbara and Barry King of England. The remaining events will be held Monday in the AAU-sanctioned decathlon at UCLA.

The 2-year-old world mark of 8,319 is held by Kurt Bendin of West Germany. Toomey's 8,277 of two weeks ago established a U.S. record.

Ninth of Year
The current competition is also his ninth this year and 32nd of his career, both records. He has said this would be his last decathlon — which is what he said before the one two weeks ago.

Toomey's 10.4 in the 100 and 46.4 in the 400, which earned him 959 and 879 points respectively, were slight improvements over his marks of the earlier decathlon. But he faltered badly in the long jump, leaping only 23-11 1/2 to his 25-6 of two weeks ago.

He nevertheless held a solid first-day lead with 4,313 to King's 3,842 and Smith's 3,866. Thoreson's point total was incomplete since he did not run the 400.

Add up to $10,000.00 to your health protection for only 25¢

ENTIRE FAMILY
FIRST MONTH)

ACT NOW — YOU MUST MAIL ENROLLMENT FORM BELOW BY MIDNIGHT, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

Here are the questions you'd normally ask your insurance man. But we answered them instead . . . so you would be able to insure yourself, right from this page. (You'll be amazed how much it saves you.)

1 When can I collect up to $10,000.00?

Every time you go to the hospital you collect $100.00 a week to a maximum of $10,000.00 cash. Not just once, but for every new confinement! You collect cash not just for yourself, but for every Covered Member of your family including spouse and children!

2 How can I collect up to $7,000.00 extra cash—if I'm over 65?

If you are over 65 we pay you $70.00-a-week extra cash in addition to Medicare. This is extra. You collect it for each illness or injury—each time you go to the hospital. Right up to $7,000.00 extra cash!

3 How can I collect up to $5,000.00 additional—for a Registered Nurse at home?

You collect an extra $100.00-a-week cash—up to $5,000.00—any time you have been in the hospital 3 days or more and your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse at home within 5 days after you leave the hospital. This money is extra.

4 When do I collect up to $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?

We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if it happens as long as 3 months after the accident. This is all extra money. You collect it on top of any other benefits we pay you. Not just for yourself, but for every Covered Member of your family!

5 What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?

Don't worry. You still collect to the maximum of $10,000.00. And if you've already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days—we call it a "new confinement". This means you can collect all over again, up to another $10,000.00!

6 If I collect more money than my medical bills cost—do I keep the extra cash?

You certainly do! We pay you $100.00 cash every week—even if your bills add up to just a fraction of that amount! So it's possible to come out of the hospital dollars ahead! And it's all 100% TAX-FREE!

7 If I already have some health insurance—will you pay me anyway?

Of course! Never mind what you receive from Blue Cross, or Major Medical, or Workman's Compensation, or Medicare, or any other company's insurance you may have. (Even for the same illness!) We still pay you $100.00-a-week extra cash income to the maximum of $10,000.00 cash. So if other insurance has taken care of some—or even all—of your medical bills . . . you still have that extra cash income from Presidential.

8 Do you pay me cash for my children, too?

Yes! And not just once, but every time they go to the hospital, too! Under the Family Plan you receive $50.00-a-week extra cash to a maximum of $5,000.00 for each eligible dependent child between the ages of 3 months and 19 years.

9 Will "future" children be protected, too?

They surely will! Under the Family Plan with Maternity you simply notify us when your "new addition" is 3 months old. We cover him or her (or them) automatically.

10 Will you pay me $100.00-a-week cash—even for pregnancy?

Yes, even for pregnancy! Many health plans DON'T cover pregnancy. But we do. Under the Family Plan with Maternity you collect $100.00 a week to a maximum of $10,000.00 cash for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay when both parents have been enrolled in the Plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

11 When does my estate collect an extra $1,000.00 accidental death benefit?

In case of accidental death to any covered member of your family—even if it happens as long as 3 months after the accident.

12 Why do you pay me higher cash benefits every year—without charging me a higher rate?

Because medical services cost more every year. So we feel you should be paid more every year. The first year we pay you $100.00 a week. But the second year we increase that—automatically—to $103.00 a week. And so on, all the way up to a full $130.00 a week the eleventh year and thereafter. That's the way your cash benefits rise to meet the rising cost of living. But the low premium you pay doesn't rise one penny.

13 Are there times I might collect even more than $10,000.00?

Yes, there are! If you and your spouse are both hospitalized. Or one of you goes more than once. Or if a child gets sick. Or someone has an accident—or whatever—you could very possibly collect not just up to $10,000.00 cash but as much as $20,000.00 . . . $30,000.00 . . . even $40,000.00 or more!

14 Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please?

Certainly! You can even put them in the bank to replace funds spent while you were laid up in the hospital without an income. It's your money—and it's sent directly to you, not to the doctor or hospital. (Unless, of course, you ask us to.)

15 What do others have to say about Presidential?

"Let me say the full payment as per the policy was most gratifying. There was doubt in our minds for some time especially where we started with only a first payment of 25¢, but that doubt now has been completely erased. The settlement definitely was in full payment for the time in the hospital and our sincere thanks for the check."

LETHA SCHRECKENGAST,
Cedar Rapids, Iowa

"Just a few words to thank you for the prompt manner in which you settled my claim. I certainly will recommend Presidential Life Ins. to my friends."

MRS. SYLVIA LEVIN,

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

United States Government figures reveal your present health protection . . . may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add coverage that provides to a maximum of $10,000.00 health protection for only 25¢ for the first month for you and your entire family.

16 Can I ever stop paying premiums—yet remain fully covered?

Yes—if you, your spouse or other adult dependents are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due for the person confined while still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—to a maximum of 100 weeks per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force—you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

17 How can you give me so much—for so little?

Because you deal directly with Presidential, you virtually "write your own Policy". Right off this page. No middleman needed! Costly "processing charges" are eliminated. So is "red tape". You do each simple step yourself—in your own home . . . in your own good time . . . by making up your own mind. And, of course, dealing by mail is confidential. No one need know your personal affairs—except you!

18 Doesn't enrolling by mail take away the "personal" touch?

Certainly not! We give you more personal service, not less. But instead of getting it when you sign up—YOU GET IT WHEN YOU SUBMIT A CLAIM! That's where it really means something. And that's where Presidential gives you plenty of service.

19 All right, now that you mention it—how do I go about submitting a claim?

As a Presidential policyowner, you're entitled to contact FAST CLAIM HEADQUARTERS direct. No frantic attempts to locate your broker. No anxious waiting. If you have an accident or want to make a claim, don't hesitate—CONTACT US DIRECT! Even if you only have a question—don't worry about "inconveniencing" or "annoying" anyone.

20 How else do you save me money by cutting "red tape"?

No long complicated applications or embarrassing personal "investigations"! The short Enrollment Form on this page tells us all we need to know: Notice it doesn't ask for a medical examination before your Policy is issued. Or set an age limit (as long as you haven't been refused any health, hospital, or life insurance, we don't care if you're over 100!). Most important, we enroll many persons simultaneously! Not one Policy at a time, the old-fashioned way—but thousands at once. Using all the economies of mass printing and latest computer techniques. That's how we can give you so much for only 25¢.

21 Will I collect from my first day of hospitalization?

Yes. You start collecting as soon as you enter the hospital. (Coverage for injury begins when your Policy goes into force. Coverage for sickness begins 30 days after the Effective Date of the Policy.)

22 Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?

Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your Policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state.

23 Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my Policy cover?

Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your Policy pays during hospital confinement for everything except conditions caused by: mental disorders; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.

24 Does this Plan pay in any hospital?

You are covered for care in the hospital of your choice, except, of course, a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility.

25 Why do I need this $100.00-a-week cash protection?

Because U.S. Government figures show that in the past few years alone . . . medical costs have DOUBLED! Yet few people have anywhere near enough protection to meet these soaring doctor and hospital bills. How much would a long hospital stay cost you? Or a loved one? How would you ever pay for costly X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs not covered by your present insurance? Would you be able to afford the quiet and dignity of a private room and a private nurse? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones. Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? And who would pay for rent, food, clothing, and household expenses—all the non-medical bills that keep coming in at home even though you are in the hospital without an income?

26 When may I apply for this protection?

The question is not "when may" but "when must". YOU ABSOLUTELY

Plan II—Family Plan With Maternity:

This Plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all Maternity Benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the age of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months and without any additional charge.

Plan III—Family Plan Without Maternity:

This Plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the age of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

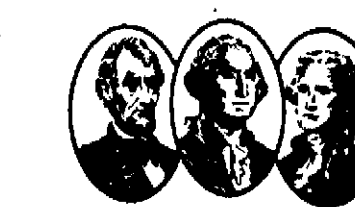

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

30 What should I know about your company?

Dunne's Insurance Report, the world's largest reporting service, gives Presidential a rating of "A+ EXCELLENT." There is no higher rating a company can attain.

31 How do I enroll?

If what you have read on this page makes good honest sense to you . . . if you find yourself agreeing with thousands of other Americans who welcome this sensible way to save money by "insuring themselves"—then by all means, act on your own good instincts—and mail the Enrollment Form with 25¢ now! Please act without delay. NO SALESMAN WILL CALL. And you'll have plenty of time after you mail the Enrollment Form to change your mind. (There's a Money-Back Guarantee with no obligation.) ## Annual Convention

State Municipality Leaders To Discuss Problems of '70s

Though their ideas for solving problems — and frequently the problems themselves — often conflict, officials of large and small cities and villages in Wisconsin will meet in Milwaukee this week to look for solutions together.

The annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities will draw more than 800 municipal government leaders for speeches, conferences, panel discussions and reports starting Wednesday and ending Friday. Public works officials have a special program Tuesday and Wednesday. "Preparing for the Seventies" is the theme of the conference.

According to Ed Johnson, league executive director and contact man with the state Legislature, developments in the current special session in Madison are likely to rank high among topics of discussion, on and off the agenda.

Bills aimed at municipal problems have been the chief business of the legislative session. Proposed by the Tarr Task Force, the bills have drawn their most vociferous support from large-city interests, while opposition has often come from smaller communities.

which they are confronted."

Makuen described "The New Look on Green Bay Campus," saying change had occurred because of student demands. He said colleges resisted change until the last decade. Makuen said now, however, administration and faculty was reacting positively to what students were saying.

Makuen believes that students are seeking increased humanization, better quality of human relationships, more privacy, less hypocrisy in the adult world,

Hilbert Shows Interest in Low Cost Housing Project

Preliminary Steps Necessary For Units for Elderly Outlined At Village Informational Meeting

HILBERT — Preliminary steps necessary for a low cost housing project for the elderly in the village were outlined by state and local officials here late last week.

The informational meeting was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. No action on the proposal was taken. Approval must come from the village board.

Speaking to businessmen and interested citizens at the session were John Lyndorfer, state consultant on homes for the aged, and Mayor Clarence Wolf and Raymond Kleiber, both of Brillion.

Lyndorfer explained procedures to get the project started, and said there are 30 communities in the state with operating projects and many others with certified applications pending.

He said there were 5,000 units already rented and this figure is expected to increase to 10,000 by 1972. However, even this number would only take care of about one-tenth of those needing the units, he said.

Tenants eligible for these units, Lyndorfer continued, must be of limited assets and income. The project does not affect other rented property and is tax free, tending to bring the cost down, according to the state official.

Building Code

Before such a project can be approved, Lyndorfer stressed, the municipality must have a building code for plumbing, electricity, fire prevention and other requirements.

Rents generally are governed by the cost of the project, which can be built in either a utility or elaborate way, according to Lyndorfer.

Raymond Kleiber, chairman of the Brillion low cost housing project, said that the Brillion units were among the first to be completed in the state. He said that the excellent cooperation of

Squad Car Is Wrecked During Chase

An Appleton Police Department squad car and a stolen car were wrecked during a high-speed chase across Appleton's north side Friday.

Drive of the stolen car and a passenger were apprehended after fleeing the accident scene on foot. The driver, Richard Jacoby, 23, 1406 W. Kamps St., Appleton, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital after complaining of chest pains. The passenger in the car, James Walters, 23, 932 W. Lawrence St., was not injured.

Police started the chase when the car was clocked at 59 miles per hour by radar at 1:05 a.m. The vehicle eluded the radar car and was then spotted by Patrolman Carlton Dittmar.

Dittmar attempted to force the car to the curb at W. Brewster and N. Outagamie streets by bumping the car but the driver refused to stop.

At Brewster and Locust streets he again bumped the car and this time both went over the curb, breaking off a street sign.

The two occupants of the car were found a short time later behind houses in the 700 block of W. Hawes St.

The car, owned by Duane Vanden Boogard, 105 Lom St., Kimberly, had been purchased new a week ago and had been left at an Appleton garage for undercoating.

Instant Service on Tap

King Maintenance Is Steady Job for Experienced Crew

BY FERN SMITH

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KING — If you run a home, and know the frustration trying to get instant service on your plumbing, the lawn mower fixed, car — the hundreds of things that frustrate when they are not working — you will appreciate a place where there is instant service.

This kind of service is housed in the new, $280,400 maintenance and transportation building at the Grand Army Home for Veterans which opened this month. A visit to the block-long, attractive building of steel-block and brick, geared to provide instant service conjures envy.

"We fix anything, except the crack of dawn or a broken heart," is the way Glenn Robbins forman, describes the services centered here.

Multiple Shops

Within the 20,504 square feet of space all of the maintenance and transportation equipment and servicemen are housed. These include a carpenter shop, a paint shop, an automotive repair shop, a furniture shop, electrical shop, plumbing shop, tool crib, heated storage for seven vehicles and storage space for all mechanized equipment.

The west end of the building looks like a "house of doors." There are 15. Each of the shops has its own loading door.

As the rapid growth of the home and the new construction schedule is met, new buildings are replacing the wooden structures with steel and mortar. Will this cut down on painting and carpentry maintenance?

To the casual observer it comes as a surprise to learn that new buildings require as much, and more, maintenance from carpenters. These men fix the doors, the steel windows openers, repair tile floors and walls — and a number of other items which need continuous maintenance and repair.

Fast Work

There is a crew always at work, painting, repairing furniture, cutting grass, trimming bushes, replacing sidewalks, fixing doorknobs, unplugging the plumbing, servicing the trucks, the station wagons, the ambulances, the sticking bureau drawer, the television set, and such calls all come to the supervisors in the maintenance building. Work orders are made out and the job is done pronto.

Harold Schmidt is transportation foreman and there are 12 regular employees on his staff and 4 employees who assist.

The new building was designed by Architect Robert Duszak of Sauter and Seaborn, Appleton, and construction took about a year. The general contractor was Colon Wallace of Berlin. Subcontractors were August Winters, Appleton, heating; Manley Plumbing, Plainfield, plumbing and Superior Electric, Appleton, electrical.

The space was projected to meet the needs of the home when its residency doubles to 1,500 by 1975.

Minor Damage Results In Camper Truck Fire

CLINTONVILLE — The volunteer fire department was called at 3:50 p.m. Sunday to Bob's Drive-In to extinguish a fire in a camper-truck.

According to the firemen, minor damage resulted to the motor of the truck, owned by Lavern Korth, VanDyne.

Now Attend Clintonville High

Bear Creek Students Like Change

BY MILDRED LAIB

Post-Crescent Correspondent

CLINTONVILLE — After seven weeks of classes in their new school, the Bear Creek students now attending Clintonville High School seem unanimous in the opinion that they "like it here."

In a sampling of the 60 former Bear Creek High School students, the comments were all favorable concerning the change.

Principal Burr E. Tolles said the comments he had heard from teachers and the youngsters themselves indicated that they had adjusted well, and like it here. He noted that many of the students who had belonged to clubs and other school organizations at Bear Creek now belong to similar ones here.

Enjoy Football

Bear Creek did not have football and the students have enjoyed the games and the recent homecoming activities here.

Miss Karen Bowen, who taught at Bear Creek last year and is teaching mathematics and chemistry at the high school here this year, also commented that the Bear Creek students seemed to like it here — they like the students and the teachers. One of the things mentioned is the much larger classes, as there are more than 600 students.

All ninth graders at the Clintonville Junior High school take beginning typing, which was not the practice at the former Bear Creek High School. In order to provide beginning typing for those students who have not taken it as yet, a class is held during the noon hour and 20 students are enrolled.

'Pretty Nice'

"Pretty good and pretty nice," Brian Flanagan said, when asked what he thought about Clintonville Senior High School. Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flanagan and is a sophomore. He has a brother, Dennis, who is a senior.

Brian said he thought there were more opportunities in sports and he likes being able to take foreign languages. He is enrolled in the noon typing class and plans to go out for basketball and baseball.

Regina Flanagan, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Flanagan. She said she had to get used to the traffic jams in the halls and trying to get to classes on time.

"I think we have all adjusted pretty well and found friends up here. We go to school activities and have joined such school organizations as the Truckettes and Future Homemakers of America (FHA) . . . it's working out better than we thought it would on the whole," Regina admitted.

Another junior, Donna Ellenbecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellenbecker, said, "I think it is nice. The first month was hard because we weren't used to the bigger school — it's a lot better now. Most of us have joined the bowling club and go to the football games."

Donna says the school bus is crowded but she feels they have good transportation. Regina also mentioned that she was on the bus longer than she was when going to Bear Creek High School.

A senior, Donna Stilen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stilen, Jr., concurred with others in that Clintonville Senior High School is "lots bigger and more subjects are offered to choose from." She said it wasn't easy to know all the students, but that she has joined a couple of clubs, and in that way, gets to know more of them.

Waupaca Project Gets Medicare Okay

Program Brings Nursing Into Home

BY FERN SMITH

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — The Waupaca County Home nursing care program, which has been in operation for two years, has again been certified for Medicare by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"The Home Nursing Care program provides service to any resident of this county, whether he or she can pay for the service," Mrs. DuWayne Tanner, county nurse, explained.

"It is a means of bringing nursing service into the home for those who do not need hospital or long-term care," she added.

"It is under the supervision of the patient's physician and directed toward assisting the patient to attain and maintain his highest level of independent living.

"There is another ingredient, almost equal in importance, and that is to assist the patient's family to support the patient at home with proper nutrition, physical therapy, social activity and general well-being," she explained.

"Just going home, where most patients want to be, is not the total answer for many, young or old. The diabetic, for example, has to live a new kind of life and he or she must learn how to maintain his medical program, and his family must learn how to help him do this," she illustrated.

"Dressing a wound can be traumatic for a member of the family, but a nurse can help make this transition. By being with a patient who has a fracture for an hour, the right amount of proper exercise is given and then their family can learn to do this," Mrs. Tanner said.

How does one get this kind of nursing care at home and how much does it cost?

First, the public health nurse makes an evaluation of the kind of care needed and the orders to be carried out from the patient's personal physician.

Need Determined

At the time of this visit, it will be determined if the patient needs direct nursing care, demonstration nursing care — or visits to teach the family how to care for the patient. It is also determined whether the patient can assume his own care and if there is someone in the home who can be taught and is willing to give care between nursing visits.

It is clear that a patient who needs to be in a hospital or extended care facility cannot be served by the Home Nursing Care service.

The present cost per visit is $8.70 and a cost study is now under way to determine if the fee should be raised or lowered. There is no charge for the first visit.

Persons eligible for Medicare receive full payment for the program. A number of health insurance policies provide full payment for home care.

At present there are 23 patients being cared for by the program. The staff includes Mrs. Helen Kavanaugh, public health nurse; Mrs. Garneta Kempf and Mrs. Eva Nocak, RN's, and Mrs. Douglas Mayne, physical therapist.

Advisory Group The advisory committee is being reactivated. It is a requirement for providing a home nursing program and its general purpose is to advise.

Its primary function is to identify the county's health resources and needs.

This year the committee's work has been expanded to include public health for the county "community." It will meet on Nov. 20, to report its findings and recommendations for maintaining and providing service from the present loan closet and to report on the health department functions now operating in Clintonville, New London, Manawa, Weyauwega, Waupaca and the townships.

Committee members include: Lyle Spiegelberg, Manawa; Mrs. Alice Tellock and Mrs. James Huffman, Clintonville; Mrs. Grace Stearn and Mrs. Doris Kileen, New London; Rev. Donald Brezinski, King; Raymond Prael, New London; and Mrs. Fern Smith, Waupaca.

The committee will elect a permanent chairman, establish sub-committees and plan its work for the ensuing year at its November meeting.

Nixon Eyes Cease-Fire?

Proposal Could Come During Address to Nation Nov. 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid increasingly voiced sentiment for a faster U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, President Nixon reportedly is considering a unilateral cease-fire.

The President may propose the cease-fire during his Nov. 3 address to the nation on the Vietnam situation, a White House source said Sunday.

Indications Nixon may, in fact, have been affected by opposition to the war expressed in last Wednesday's Vietnam Moratorium piled up as the President spend the weekend huddled with his top military and diplomatic advisers at Camp David.

Humphrey Sure
And former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who last week emerged from a meeting with Nixon to endorse his Vietnam policy, said in Tokyo he is sure the United States will carry out "a systematic and accelerated withdrawal of U.S. forces" from South Vietnam.

Humphrey was among a number of prominent figures—in and out of the administration—who spoke out on Vietnam over the weekend.

According to Newsweek Magazine, Nixon has been urged by his military advisers to proclaim a U.S.-initiated cease fire so enemy violations could be used "as evidence of the enemy's reluctance to end the war."

The advisers feel, the magazine said, a unilateral cease-fire "would create no great risk to U.S. troops in the field."

Signal to Hanoi
The White House source said Nixon could be expected to announce such a cease-fire during his Vietnam address or, by not mentioning it, signal to Hanoi the idea has been rejected.

The President conferred at the Maryland retreat with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and his national security advisor, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Humphrey said when he talked about troop withdrawals with Nixon he had "encouraged the President to give it all possible support on the executive level."

Democrats
In Washington, Sen. Fred Harris, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, called for speeded up troop withdrawals and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said United Nations Secretary-General U Thant should negotiate a political settlement of the war.

Harris spoke on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press" and Muskie appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Harris said Nixon has acknowledged the war can't be won militarily and added that the President "ought to get about getting us out of it on a much more rapid and systematic basis."

"I think the key word is systematic," the Oklahoma Democrat said. "It's by that way that we can signal Hanoi and signal Saigon in a meaningful way that we are on the way to allowing the people of South Vietnam to achieve self determination."

Coalition Government
Muskie said U Thant would be "a natural" to get the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong—together on a coalition government for South Vietnam.

"He's an Asian himself," Muskie said. "He knows the area—is known there. And he knows how to move in an Asian situation of this kind."

Wig to Get Youth Back Into School

MAYVILLE (AP) — A member of a teen-age rock band is free to return to school this week in accordance with grooming rules—provided he conceals his shoulder-length tresses under a short-hair wig.

Parents of Dale Boeck, 17, told high school officials last week the wig had been ordered, and the school board voted 5-1 to accept the compromise.

Boeck has been out of school six weeks, refusing to trim the hair style which he said was part of his professional music attire. The board's ruling that the long hair violated a grooming code adopted by the student council had been challenged in Dodge County Court.

2 From Neenah Die in Indiana Auto Crash

Mrs. Stan Hoyman, Daughter Killed Sunday at Wabash

WABASH, Ind. — A 42-year-old Neenah mother and her 16-year-old daughter were killed about 2:30 p.m. Sunday when their auto was struck broadside here by a semi-trailer truck.

Wabash city police said Mrs. Stanley Hoyman, 307 Carolina St., and Patricia died of severe head injuries. Hoyman, 43, who was driving, and an 11-year-old daughter, Wendy Sue, were hospitalized at Wabash.

The Hoyman car was struck at the State 15 and U.S. 24 bypass on Wabash's north side as they returned home from visiting relatives in Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyman's two sons are in the military service.

Driver Unhurt
The truck driver, David Shank, 26, Centerline, Mich., reportedly escaped injury.

Wabash police said Shank probably would be cited for going through a red light, but the accident still was under investigation this morning. Police said several persons have been killed at the intersection in recent years.

Police said Hoyman was driving north on 15 and Shank east on 24. The truck struck the left side of Hoyman's auto.

Inquest Hearing

Judge Disallows Kennedy Words

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge refused today to allow statements made by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to be introduced in evidence at an autopsy hearing into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Police Chief Dominick J. Arena of Edgartown, Mass., the first witness at the hearing on a petition by a Massachusetts prosecutor to exhume the body of the 28-year-old former secretary, told the court that he had taken a statement from Kennedy.

When he sought to read it at the request of Dist. Tity. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., lawyers for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., objected on grounds it was hearsay.

Repeated Efforts
Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court sustained the objections four times over the repeated efforts of Dinis' assistant, Armand Fernandes Jr. to have it read into the record.

Arena described the accident scene and told how he was summoned to the dike bridge on Chappaquiddick Island on the morning of July 19 and had assisted a scuba diver in recovering Miss Kopechne's body from the submerged automobile.

Fernandes asked Arena to describe Miss Kopechne's appearance as the police chief cradled her body in his arms.

No Injuries
"She was dressed in a white blouse, dark slacks, a pair of sandals and everything else appeared normal, except that she was dead," Arena said. "There were no injuries that I could see."

The police chief was asked on cross examination by the Kopechne attorney if he had seen any blood on her body or on her clothing.

"No sir!" the chief replied.

Arena said the body was pulled out of the automobile by a rope, which diver John N. Farrar of the Edgartown Fire Department had attached to the body.

Arena Injuries
The attorney also wanted to know whether Arena had suffered any injury himself during the diving operation.

The police chief said he had suffered a cut on one of his toes, but did not know if it had bled. Arena also said that at no time

Symington Wants U.S. Role Shown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, declaring it a "travesty" to deny that Americans are fighting and dying in Laos, today began a week-long effort to plumb the depths of U.S. involvement in that shadowy Asian nation.

The Missouri Democrat is chairman of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which has called Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and other top officials to testify behind closed doors.

Some of the witnesses will be soldiers and civilians summoned home from Laos just to testify.

Although the hearings are closed, Symington has promised to make the record public as soon as possible and has indicated there may be open hearings later.

Main Question

The main question Symington has set out to answer is deceptively simple: Are an increasing number of Americans fighting and dying in a war that may become another Vietnam?

"To deny there is fighting is a travesty, when not only the enemy but also the American participants, including those who are casualties and some of their families, know the truth," Symington said in a statement.

The senator said trips to Laos by subcommittee aides and members convinced him "the secrecy surrounding our relations with that country has gone on far too long."

"If whatever we have done is right, the American people deserve to know it," he said. "If whatever has been done is wrong the secrecy can only compound that wrong rather than right it."

U.S. Commitments

The hearings into Laos are part of a broad look at American commitments abroad which the subcommittee began earlier this month with closed sessions on The Philippines.

Although the Symington hearings are the first formal inquiry into the U.S. involvement in Laos, people have been asking questions for years.

It is known that U.S. carrier-based jets were bombing five years ago. When the U.S. build-up in Vietnam started Air Force jets joined in the pounding of Laos and North Vietnam.

Nearly 100 U.S. fliers have been lost over Laos.

The principal air target has been the Ho Chi Minh trail, where it snakes through Laos on its way around the demilitarized

Florida Moving on Mafia

MIAMI (AP) — An aide says Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth has drafted 21 civil court actions aimed at driving the Mafia out of the multimillion-dollar resort business in the Miami Beach area.

Richard Knight, a member of Faircloth's staff, said the attorney general would personally file the suits today—invoking a new state law in an attempt to "close the places down or allow us to substitute legitimate people."

The law authorizing the attorney general to challenge the charters of businesses under the thumb of organized crime, went into effect July

"This is the first time in the history of the United States that any one has moved against the Mafia in their infiltration into legitimate business," Knight said.

Southern Florida has long been a favorite vacation hang-out for organized crime figures. One of those in the hierarchy, Meyer Lansky, is reported to be a regular visitor to the resort area north of Miami Beach where some of the hotels and motels involved in the court actions are located.

The author of the new law, State Sen. Robert Shevin, D-Miami, said the purpose was to give a public official the power to "keep organized crime from expanding its tentacles into all phases of the economy."

Faircloth is running for governor next year and Shevin said he will become a candidate to succeed him as attorney general.

In a copyright story Monday, the Miami Herald quoted Faircloth as saying the 21 suits were "merely the opening shot in a war against the Mafia in Florida."

Faircloth was quoted as saying there would be other cases in Dade and Broward counties in the Miami area in the near future, and similar suits later in the Tampa area.

Agnew Leads Reaction

Anti-Moratorium Activities Spur Leaders to More Effort

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Backers of Nixon administration Vietnam policy, led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, have launched a counter-offensive against effects of last Wednesday's Vietnam Moratorium and those planned for days ahead.

Agnew Sunday blasted leaders of the antiwar protest movement as "hard-core dissidents and professional anarchists" who are being encouraged by "an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals."

But like President Nixon's promise that he would not be affected by demonstrations against the war, Agnew's attacks were likely to spur Moratorium leader to greater efforts.

Can't Stop

"We think that it would be un-American and immoral to stop our actions now," said Jerome Grossman, a stationery manufacturer from the Boston suburb of Newton and one of the Moratorium's earliest organizers.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., proposed in Long Beach, Calif., that Americans demonstrate in support of U.S. troops in Vietnam on Nov. 11—Veterans Day.

And Gen. William Westmoreland, former commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said American fighting men were disillusioned and disappointed by the Oct. 15 call for an immediate withdrawal from the southeast Asian country.

"My guess is that the vast majority of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam are rather disappointed to see this development," said Westmoreland, now Army chief of staff, at a news conference in Brownwood, Tex.

The vice president, apparently selected to be the administration's spokesman on antiwar protests, said last Wednesday's demonstrations served only "as an emotional purgative for those who feel the need to cleanse themselves of their lack of ability to offer a constructive solution to the problem."

New Orleans Dinner

"Unfortunately, we have not seen the end. The hard-core dissidents and professional anarchists within the so-called peace movement will continue to exacerbate the situation," Agnew said at a Republican fund-raising dinner in New Orleans.

Goldwater, claiming "the majority of responsible Americans" support the President's Vietnam policy, said Veterans Day demonstration—coming just two days before the second round of antiwar activities are scheduled to begin—would be "not only fitting but, I believe, entirely necessary."

Grossman said Moratorium Day planners hoped to focus on local activities rather than large, central rallies during November.

He said local committees will urge congressmen to return home to discuss Vietnam with their constituents. Various groups have planned activities for Nov. 13, 14 and 15—with one group calling for a massive demonstration in Washington Nov. 15.

"We hope that President Nixon in his speech on Nov. 3 will accede to the expressed desire of the American people for an immediate end to the war," Grossman said. "If he does, we will fold our tents, and be happy to go back to our 'business as usual' activities."

"But we think that it would be un-American and immoral to stop our activities now," he said.

Nixon Repeats Support of Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. has been subjected to vicious character assassination, and even if the judge asked him to withdraw his nomination to the Supreme Court he would not desist.

Nixon took this stand at a one-topic news conference called hurriedly in his office.

He said he had gone over the complete record of the case of the man he tapped for the Supreme Court and all of the criticisms and charges that had been raised.

He said he is standing by his judgment that Haynsworth should have the position.

And he said he is confident that if senators study all the documents and charges involved, enough of them will come to the same conclusion he has and will vote for confirmation.

Nixon said of Haynsworth: "I find Judge Haynsworth an honest man, a lawyer's lawyer and a judge's judge. I think he will be a great credit to the Supreme Court and I intend to stand behind him until he is confirmed."

Senate Resolution

Kennedy Predicts Withdrawal Move

BRUSSELS (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today there is a "great likelihood" that the Senate will soon adopt a resolution calling for withdrawal of some U.S. troops from Western Europe.

Sentiment for such a move has been bolstered "by a continuing European reluctance to accept a greater share of the defense burden," Kennedy told a gathering of the North Atlantic Assembly.

"Let me add," he went on, "that no one proposes any sudden uncoordinated withdrawal of American forces from NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization)."

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., voiced similar misgivings about West European contributions to the Atlantic alliance.

"The burning question to me," he said, is whether Western Europe can match U.S. comtributions to NATO for, if not, some American forces will have to be withdrawn.

Sparkman cautioned, too, that any such withdrawal "need not be extensive, or immediate—and need not take place at all" if Western Europe responds accordingly.

Kennedy and Sparkman are among a number of legislators attending the annual North Atlantic Assembly, made up of representatives of member national legislatures.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, made a plea to bring Spain into the alliance to provide the strategic base lost when France pulled out of the NATO military structure.

"In marching down the road to freedom," he said, "we can not always select our companions."
